COUNCIL WILL CHANGE JITNEY BUS ORDINANCE

Ordinance Will Take Effect Sept. 1 Instead of Aug. 1—License Fee Reduced—More Bridge Talk

The municipal council at an adjourned meeting this forenoon voted to give the Locks & Canals Co. a hearing on the Pawtucket bridge matter, the date of the hearing having been set for Aug. 10. Commissioner Morse was not in favor of granting the hearing on the grounds that this means more delay in the building of the proposed bridge, and also that if the said bridge is not constructed this year he will have to expend about $1600 for replanking the structure. In the course of the meeting Mr. Morse spoke at length on the proposed bridge matter, shifting occasionally to sewers and other works in his department. The commissioner in his discourse on the bridge indulged in reminiscences of his tragic ride over the present bridge after it had been

FELL UNDER STONE DRAG TO SECURE ARMISTICE

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD HAROLD HATCH
BADLY INJURED IN WESTFORD
STREET TODAY

Harold Hatch, eight-year-old son of John E. Hatch of 354 Walker street, is at St. John's hospital with a fractured leg and lacerations about the head as a result of being run over by a stone drag near the corner of Westford and Wilbur streets, shortly before 11 o'clock this forenoon. His cries attracted the attention of Thomas J. O'Donnell, who was passing in an automobile. Mr. O'Donnell placed the boy in his machine and rushed him to the hospital where his injuries were treated.

It is understood that Harold was riding on the drag, standing near the rear wheel. He fell and was caught between the wheel and the body of the first of the wheel passengers' leg before the driver could stop his horses.

FIRE HOUSE DERELICT

Big Protective Sent Away for Repairs and the Warren Street Boys Have Moved

There is "nobody home" at the Warren street fire station today. The big protective which responds to all alarms for fires has gone to Lawrence to be treated to a new set of tires. Two firemen made the trip while the others were transferred to the Central fire station to respond to fires in Chief Saunders' machine, providing there are any alarms.

Chief Saunders said today that the tires were formerly furnished by the Fisk Tire Co., but as the latter company does not specialize on this work now, it was necessary to send the truck to the Archibald Wheel Co. of Lawrence.

SUFFRAGE MEETING

Mrs. Glendower Evans of Boston will speak at the Saturday night street meeting for suffrage this week. These meetings continue to meet with success, and will probably be kept up during the rest of the campaign season. Mrs. Evans is well known through her connection with various movements for the betterment of social and economic conditions. She is a trustee of the Massachusetts Training School for Wayward Boys and Girls, and a member of the minimum wage commission.

ELECTROCUTED AT SING SING

Former New York Police Lieutenant
Paid Penalty for Instigating Murder of Rosenthal — He Retained Composure and Protested His Innocence to the Last

SING SING PRISON, Ossining, N. Y., July 30.—Charles Becker was put to death in the electric chair here this morning for the killing of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler. The former New York police lieutenant retained his composure and protested his innocence to the last. He went to his death with a photograph of his wife pinned on his shirt over his heart. Three shocks were given before the prison physicians pronounced Becker dead at 5:55 o'clock.

Led Way to His Execution

Becker led the way to his own execution. The condemned man sat up all night on the edge of his cot, calmly talking to Deputy Warden Charles H. Johnson.

"I have got to face it," said Becker, "and I am going to meet it quietly and without trouble to anyone." The deputy warden left Becker about an hour before the time set for the execution and when the priests, Father W. E. Cashin, the prison priest, and Father Curry, of New York, came to administer the last rites they found the man who instigated Herman Rosenthal's murder with his face resting on his hand gazing at the prison floor. The priests remained with him to the end.

Witnesses to Execution

It was shortly after 5 o'clock when the first of the witnesses of the execution began to assemble outside the prison walls. Quietly their names were checked off by Deputy Warden Johnson, who directed them to take their places at a gateway that led to the place of execution in a new death house which had been built adjoining the old execution chamber where the four gunmen were put to death over a year ago for killing Rosenthal. When the witnesses were seated Deputy Warden Johnson nodded to principal keeper Fred

Dorner and they left the room through a small wooden door that led to the death cells beyond, where Becker was praying with his spiritual advisers.

Becker's Last Message

Becker arose to his feet when he saw Johnson and took a crucifix from the hand of the prison priest. To Father Curry Becker gave his last message as he took his place at the head of the little file of men that marched to the room of death. Becker's message which he uttered to the priest was:

"I am not guilty by deed or conspiracy or in any other way of the death of Rosenthal. I am sacrificed to my friends. Bear this message to the world and my friends. Amen."

Walked to the Chair

The one-time police officer hesitated as he entered the execution room. It seemed to the witnesses as if he was startled that the death chair was so near at hand. He looked quickly at the double row of witnesses, glanced at the floor, swept with his eyes the whitened walls of the room and then suddenly, as if coming to himself, walked briskly over the rubber mat and seated himself in the electric chair. Behind Becker followed the prison priest, chanting the prayer of death which was repeated by the condemned man.

Prays for Mercy

"Jesus, Mary, Joseph, have mercy on my soul," nervously spoke Becker as deputy wardens stepped forward and adjusted the electrodes. Hardly

THE EASTLAND DISASTER

State's Attorney Intimates Number of Indictments Charging Manslaughter and Carelessness

CHICAGO, July 30.—State's Attorney Hoyne intimated at noon today that a number of indictments charging manslaughter and criminal carelessness might be returned before the close of the day against persons held responsible for the steamer Eastland disaster in which more than a thousand lives were lost. It was said that several federal officials might be indicted despite the question of jurisdiction of the state over federal officers.

The July state grand jury must adjourn before midnight tomorrow under the law, and the state's attorney is anxious to have it conclude its investigation of the Eastland horror today, if possible. Additional witnesses were examined during the afternoon.

The special federal grand jury empaneled by Judge K. M. Landis, began the examination of witnesses.

"We propose to investigate everybody and every circumstance connected with the wreck as directed by the

WARSAW IN THROES OF ABANDONMENT

Germans at Gates and Plans Completed for a Triumphant Entrance of Kaiser and Escort

LONDON, July 30, 12:05 p. m.—Warsaw, the third city of Russia and the goal for which the German armies in the east have been striving since October, is at last in the throes of abandonment. Germans in overwhelming numbers are at the gates of the Polish capital and despatches both from the city itself and from Petrograd say that further resistance would be unwise.

Fall Hourly Expected

Discounted not only throughout France and Great Britain but in Russia itself, the fall of the city is expected hourly and the problem now is to move the Russian armies intact, threatened as they are from the south by the Austro-Germans and more seriously from the north where the German forces which have swept through

Poland are aiming at the railway from Warsaw to Petrograd. This latter menace, the British press admits, is imminent, and the hope in the allied countries now is not for the safety of Warsaw but for the continued cohesion of the Russian army.

The Warsaw postoffice already has been shifted to some point to the eastward, the populace has been warned to remain calm and presumably for days Russian troops have been stripping the city of everything of military value.

Triumphant Entrance

German aviators are hovering over the city and according to German advice, plans have been completed for the triumphant entrance of the German forces which have swept through

Judge Enright Scores Youngsters
—Milk Men Fined for Watering Milk—Other Cases

Judge Enright scored the gang of youngsters that hangs around the North common and annoys foreigners who gather there for a peaceful evening or Sunday afternoon, after hearing the case of George Peter accused of assault and battery upon Albert Randall in the local court this forenoon. "I have personal knowledge of these foreigners being persecuted by young boys on this common," said the court. "The men go to the common," he continued, "to sit on the benches and on the grass and are continually bothered by boys of that vicinity."

The trouble occurred early last Sunday evening. According to the story related in court today, Albert Randall,

DR. MAHONEY NAMED
APPOINTED. HEALTH COMMISSIONER FOR CITY OF BOSTON BY MAYOR CURLEY
BOSTON, July 30.—Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, the present chairman of the health board, was last night appointed by Mayor Curley as commissioner under the new ordinance which provides for a single head and five deputies. The salary will be $7500.
In appointing Dr. Mahoney Mayor Curley said:
"Having exhausted every means in my power to secure Dr. Richard H. Creel of the federal health service, and knowing Dr. Creel and others that the health service in Boston has no equal for efficiency in the country, it is but just to select for the new head one who helped to make Boston the healthiest city in the United States. He will have a free hand and full power, which is something that the head of the health department has not had during the 15 years that I have been connected with the government of the city. I made this same promise to Dr. Creel, but it appears nothing I could offer would influence his determination to remain in the federal service."
The mayor further stated that Dr. Mahoney was in entire ignorance of his appointment, a fact which was borne out later when a reporter called upon the doctor and presented him with the quill pen with which the mayor signed the appointment.

ELMER E. COLE DEAD
Prominent Billerica Citizen Died at Bethlehem Where He Went in Search Of Health
Elmer E. Cole, proprietor of the Cole Grain Elevator at Billerica centre, and one of the town's most prominent residents, passed away yesterday in Bethlehem, N. H., where he had gone on the advice of physicians in an effort to improve his health. The body will be removed to his home in Billerica today.
Mr. Cole purchased the grain elevator from the late W. C. Phillips and during the past few years greatly increased the business of the plant. Although he never was a candidate for any public office he was prominent in town affairs and at the time of his death was a member of the finance committee and of the new fire station committee. He was a member of Thomas Talbot lodge, A. F. of A. M. Deceased is survived by a wife and daughter, Esther, who were with him at the time of his death.

The French Maid Says:
The Unpopular Miss Girl
"Are not some girls screams?" laughed Marjorie as she burst in upon Marie. "I just met an acquaintance who used to be so nice and sweet, but she is now so very affected and blasé that I do not enjoy her company a bit."
"It is a pity," agreed Marie. "I think there is no need for a girl to possess that can compare with the sweet, natural and unaffected manner. With it a homely girl can change herself into a most bewitching person, and an attractive girl can make herself positively irresistible."
"But how comparatively few of these bewitching and irresistible beings are to be discovered at the present moment. The young maidens seem to have gone mannerism mad. Their smiles, their walk, and their very gesture are affected. We are asked to admire a race of haughty beauties today. The attitude of the fashionable belle of the moment is that of splendid insolence."
"But it is not a pretty whim or a lovable one. The trouble with the mannerisms is that they leave indelible marks behind them in many cases. For no reason other than this it is a good plan not to contract them at all. Don't delude yourself with the belief that an absurd and ludicrous grimace, a lop-shouldered, spasmodic smile, and ultra-mannerish clothes will bring you admiration."
"Look around in your own circle. Are not the really popular girls those who possess simple manners like the 'cret' here? You must admit that."
"You are right, Marie," said Marjorie, "and you may be certain that I shall make more than ever, hereafter, fight shy of girls who are affected and also be very careful of my own actions."

Milady's Boudoir
Beware of Youth Destroyers
Do you dissipate, mademoiselle and madame? No, you are indeed a charming exception to the rule of the swiftly moving events. You do not stay out until late hours doing the tango. You do not puff delightedly on a cigarette in the privacy of your boudoir. You do not drink a cocktail before dinner?
If you answer so, then this article is not for you. It is written especially for the women and girls who do these three mentioned things, and it is not a sermon on morals, but simply health and beauty.
Cigarette smoking robs your lungs of their natural oxygen, dims the lustre of your eyes and gives the fingers, which should be as white as the yellowish tint to your hair, a dingy, yellowish tint. A woman's face can never be lovely if it is covered with hard lines and ridges.
Beware of the three beauty and youth destroyers: cocktails, cigarettes and late hours.

sapping the life of thousands who have nowhere to turn for respite—into the glorious golden sun that makes flowers bloom and brings out the fragrance of the warm earth in her wild places.
Many of these "pale flowers" the city's children, who have known the sun only in its cruelty, are now learning of the "sun swept spaces" of Mother Nature and finding that on the hot day days there are still pleasant places where God's children may be.
Woods and Green Fields
These pleasant places, just now are the meadow and woodland acres close by river, lakes and brooks, in North Chelmsford, Tyngsboro and Pelham, where those in charge of Country Week are caring for poor children. Country Week is an old institution and is now in full swing. The places picked out for the children are rich in woods and green fields where the little ones can play and prattle to their hearts content.
Best of all there is plenty to eat, and children who have known the pinch of hunger have here not only three beautiful meals a day, but bread and jam between meals. Each guest remains for a week or two weeks. If it is a very deserving case and the child is very frail the little one is allowed to remain for two weeks.
Country Week is conducted under who have been giving for years, but we do not have as many new contributors as the work deserves. We have three place in North Chelmsford, one in Tyngsboro and one in Pelham. For children over 12 years of age we pay $4 a week and $3.50 a week for children under 12. Most of our little visitors remain one week but if the child is very frail and requires extra attention the visiting period is extended to two weeks. While Country Week was primarily intended for the children we also assist a number of old folks and already over 50 worthy people have been given the benefit of a vacation in the country, who could not have enjoyed its privilege but for the aid that the Country Week fund gives. The money subscribed is always economically and wisely spent, but what the committee urgently needs just now is more of it.

Sleeping in Tents
Tents are provided for the children to sleep in and Mrs. Sturtevant says it is a great innovation to them. A great many of the children, she says, do not take kindly to the food because, as one of them said, "It is not like what we have at home." Mrs. Sturtevant relates one amusing incident of a little girl who refused to eat green peas fresh from the garden. She said she liked peas that "come in cans."

Another little girl for several days refused to eat custard, but after tasting and eating some of it she became the banner custard eater of the house.
"If the people could see the children and see how they are cared for," said Mrs. Sturtevant, "I am sure they would give freely to Country Week fund."
Owing to industrial and other conditions there are more applications than ever before, and although Mrs. Sturtevant and others associated with her in the work are planning to care for more children this summer than any previous season, yet they have not been able thus far to cope with all the applications from deserving sources.
Kind nature, however, has done her part in helping to relieve the suffering caused by mid-summer heat in the city by giving, thus far, a comparatively cool season.
But to return to the question of contributions to the Country Week fund, it is hoped that those who have not already contributed will send in their contributions to the treasurer, John A. Hunnewell, 23-31 Market St., and it will do no harm to suggest that there is no law in this case against repeaters, so that any one who feels able to add to a previous contribution is hereby encouraged to do so.

VOTERS MUST BE CAREFUL

Votes Will Not be Counted if the Names of Two Parties are Marked

Voters in Lowell, in common with those throughout Massachusetts when they go to the polls at the primary this fall will cast their ballots under a new method as prescribed in chapter 290 Acts of 1914, known as "the preferential primary law," adopted in this state by a referendum vote in the state election last year.

Party enrollment is now abolished. When the voter steps up to the guard rail at the polling booth he is no longer required to declare with which political party he is affiliated, neither does he ask for a ballot of any particular party designation. All the primary election ballots will be uniform in size color and arrangement. The ballot will contain the names of the candidates arranged in adjoining party columns, in the order that shall be determined by lot at the secretary of state's office previous to the printing of the ballots. At the head of each party column shall be printed "Official ballot of (here shall be printed the party name)".

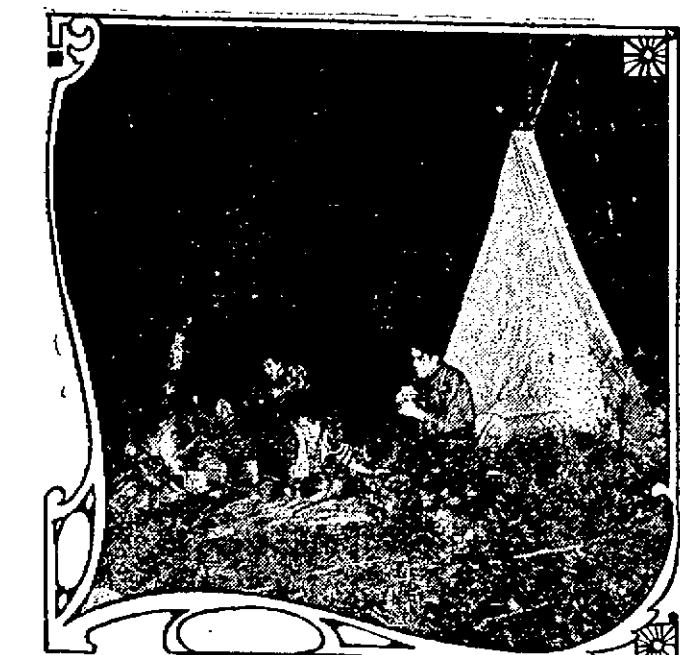

The voter must be careful to vote for candidates of one party only or the ballot will not be counted. That is, should a voter mark a cross opposite a name in the Republican column and again in front of another candidate's name in the Democratic column the ballot will be void and counted as blank.

A voter cannot vote for a candidate for a republican party nomination in one instance and for a candidate for a democratic nomination in another instance. He must adhere to whichever party column he starts out to mark. The essential thing to keep in mind is "VOTE FOR CANDIDATES FOR ONE PARTY ONLY—OR BALLOT WILL NOT BE COUNTED".

The names of the candidates for all political parties shall be printed on the same ballot but the names of the candidates of each political party shall be arranged in adjoining columns.

In signing nomination papers of candidates a voter is allowed to sign as many nomination papers as there are officers to be elected in the district wherein he resides.

FREE AT STANLEY'S

In addition to the regular Lowell night program at Stanley's on the Merrimack tonight Manager Carney will present Irving Berlin's songsters in their latest and best song successes.

These entertainers are rated as leaders in their class and should prove a strong drawing card. And the best of it all is that the admission is free. If it's for nothing else but to hear these wonderfully clever singers and entertainers patrons should attend. Besides the patrons the serenaders there will be general dancing to music by Millington's orchestra of Lawrence, which is one of the best orchestras for dancing in both modern and glide dancing. In the state have not attended one of these Lowell night occasions just try once and be convinced of their worth. Others have, why not you?

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Among the historical ruins of wonderful Rome are the remains of the thrilling scenes of "The Eternal City." Hall Caine's masterpiece which will also be shown today and tomorrow at the Merrimack Square theatre. In producing this picture it was necessary to secure the permission of the Italian government to stage some of the scenes which were taken in places never before shown on the screen. Full freedom was granted the directors. As a result "The Eternal City" is magnificently original. The play is acted by the Famous Players cast with Pauline Frederick in the role of Roma, who is driven by fate. This is the doctrine of some of the ancient philosophers embodied in a twentieth century drama by the master writer, Hall Caine. The presentation yesterday proved the picture to be one of the mightiest film spectacles ever produced. This play is shown three times each day. It is shown at 2:15, 5:30 and 8:15 p. m. Tickets may be secured in advance at the box office. It would be advisable to secure seats now because of the limited time this feature will be shown and those coming at the last moment are sure to be disappointed. "The Eternal City" is shown in eight acts and is followed by several other splendid reels, among which are two reels showing a war scene which when you have seen them you will hardly say that they are the most vivid you have ever seen. In contrast to this picture there is shown an amusing comedy. The afternoon prices for this exceptional performance for today and tomorrow are 5, 10 and 15 cents in the afternoon and 5, 10, 15 and 25 cents in the evening.

OWL THEATRE

A motion picture classic of marvelous dramatic attraction and scenic beauty is offered in "The Patriot and Spy," the four-act Mutual Masterpiece featured on today and tomorrow's Owl Theatre program. Marguerite Snow, James Cruze and Alphonse Etilier are starred in the leading parts. The atmosphere of a little European village is reproduced with absolute fidelity to nature, and the work of the players increases the illusion of reality. There is a fascinating note of sentiment in contrast to the terrific battle picture that will make your veins tingle with enthusiasm. This is one of the best pictures shown this year. Among the other fine attractions, is a two reel William S. Hart drama, "The Tools of Prejudice." Four other scenes on the program.

ROYAL THEATRE

An all-feature program is offered for the last two days of the week at the Royal Theatre. The management has been highly successful in the choice of programs during the last few months and they are not letting up. Every new program brings a brand new and unbroken surprise. "The Romance of Elaine" shown exclusively at the Royal will be shown today and tomorrow. An episode is shown every Friday and Saturday. Charles Chaplin will also grace the screen in a new comedy. The Vitagraph company will offer a dandy two-act detective drama called "The Estabrook Case" and many other reels will complete one of the finest performances in the city. A show of extraordinary strength will be given next Sunday.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The utter impossibility of a happy marriage resulting from the union of two utterly dissimilar races is the theme which underlies "Sealed Valley," the big Metro photodrama which will be shown twice at the B. F. Keith theatre today and tomorrow. Dorothy Donnelly and a cast of players offer this dramatization of Harriet Footner's novel of the same name. Miss Donnelly is seen as "Nahya," the half-breed Indian girl who is saved by the courtesies of the blood of her heart are as far apart in their aspirations and ideals as the traditional poles. Because she knows what awaits her if she wed an Indian, she turns to a young white physician, who, however, loves her and yet she eventually renounces him, positive that to marry him will cause a tragedy in his life. And yet she very deeply loves him, the while she spins him. Life currents are inexorable and fate decrees that the young physician shall be saved by a white girl, "Kitty Sholto." She nurses him back to health and he then goes in quest of his Indian girl, "Nahya." It is then that she must renounce the doctor, instructs the Indian youth to love her—but whom she does not love—to guide the two whites from Sealed Valley, and away they go, while the valley is scaled up again forevermore. The picture will cause much earnest thought.

THEATRE VOYONS

"After reading the press notice in the paper yesterday," said a theatre-goer, "I made up my mind to see what the Voyons had to talk so much about. Well, let me tell you words would not express my surprise. All I can say is that I have never spent such an enjoyable evening. Beautiful dancing, beautiful music and the highest class artists I have ever had the pleasure of seeing. My advice is, Don't miss this novelty today and tomorrow."

CANOBIE LAKE

The last two days of the present big vaudeville show at Canobie Lake park theatre will undoubtedly mean larger crowds than ever for all week long the unusual quality of the bill has been attracting bigger attendance every day. The patrons seem to have learned that Canobie is offering something more than the customary summer show this season and this week's offering has further impressed all with that fact. But few vaudeville theatres in the large cities offer such a big show and each of the five acts are headliners in every sense.

Preparations have been completed to handle tremendous crowds on Sunday and in the afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock the theatre will be opened with free admission to all and the Canobie Lake band will render a brilliant concert with some splendid solo numbers. From 5 to 10 o'clock the theatre will present another big vaudeville program of advanced photoplays, such as have characterized the performances of the last few Sundays at Canobie. The fact that the Canobie Lake park theatre is permitted to show features that are more laughter and excitement than not permitted in the programs of the can be found in any of the city theatres in Massachusetts on Sunday, and for this reason the Sunday patrons the patrons an opportunity to rejoice at Canobie is on the increase enjoy a bill with more life and snap, every week.

TOOK HIS LAST DIVE

MICHAEL CAWLEY STRUCK HIS HEAD AGAINST STONE ARCH AND WAS SEEN NO MORE

When he struck his head against one of the stone arches of the railroad bridge in the rear of the Armour & Co. plant on Fletcher street, following a dive into the Pawtucket canal, Michael Cawley of 111 Fletcher street was probably knocked insensible last evening. He sunk beneath the surface of the water and, according to witnesses, never came to the surface again. M. H. McDonough Sons grappled for the body until dark last evening and resumed search again this morning.

The drowning occurred about seven o'clock last evening while a number of boys were swimming at this spot. It is stated that Cawley and a companion approached the youngsters and Cawley expressed a desire to take a dip. He was presented a pair of swimming trunks and his first plunge into the canal proved fatal.

In his clothes were found two cards, one bearing the name of Michael Cawley of Worcester and the other John McCullough of 25 Smith avenue. A check was also found made out to Cawley, calling for $16. On the side of the check was written the name of a local plumbing firm. Little is known of Cawley in this city. He boarded with Frank S. Knapp at 111 Fletcher street.

Dancing, Boathouse tonight.

FORMER LOWELL COUPLE

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HAIGH OBSERVED 54TH ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING YESTERDAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Haigh of 61 Abbott street, Lawrence, formerly of Lowell, celebrated the 54th anniversary of their wedding yesterday by an outing to Plymouth with their grandchildren. Their 54th anniversary was indeed a happy day for the old couple, who have lived to see three of their children happily married and to welcome seven grandchildren.

It was July 29, 1861, just 54 years ago yesterday, when John Haigh, who was 22, married Ella Clayton, aged 19, in the Episcopal church at Blackstone, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Haigh lived in Blackstone a short time and then moved to Methuen, where Mr. Haigh was superintendent of the Methuen woolen mills for several years. At this time he acquired some property on what is now Springfield street, Lawrence, which later led to his removal to that city. From Methuen Mr. and Mrs. Haigh removed to Maynard, Mass., and then to Gilbertville, Mass., Mr. Haigh being associated with the mills in both of these places.

From Gilbertville they came to Lowell and Mr. Haigh became superintendent of the old Bay State mills. After Lowell, South Coventry, Mass., claimed the Haighs as residents and it was there Mr. Haigh retired from active business as manager and part owner of a woolen mill there. Mr. and Mrs. Haigh enjoy excellent health and look forward to a good many more happy anniversaries.

was a sheet of water. His words relative to the row-boat in the open sea on the deck of ship were prophetic. Nowadays those who were interested in canoes take more kindly to the motor-boat, but while a motor-boat takes you where you want to go and with more speed than the canoe, it lacks the good old Bohemian spirit and it affords no physical exertion unless the engine stalls, and then it is no longer exercise, but work.

The Elks' Outing

This year the Elks will hold forth in annual outing at the hospitable grounds of the Martin Luthers but quarter of a century ago they had their fun at the famous Donohoe farm, of jolly memory. Of the outing of quarter of a century ago the old Sun says: "By invitation of Ex-Alderman Peter H. Donohoe the Lowell lodge of Elks held one of their enjoyable outings at the Donohoe farm in Dracut.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

Wednesday afternoon. Two barge-loads left the corner of Merrimack and Central streets about one o'clock, while a number went up in carriages. There were about 70 present in all. Lawrence lodge was represented by the following: Hon. Edward F. O'Sullivan, Win. G. Merrill, T. J. Murphy, Joseph Dennison, Joseph Jackson, E. A. McCarthy, Charles Burnham, A. B. Bruce, P. J. Brosnahan, and Adolph Boehm. The first sport upon arriving upon the grounds was the ball game. Two teams were organized, captained by Alderman Fuller and James H. Cudworth, late of the Worcester team. The weather proved too hot, however, for an extended game and three innings were sufficient for the perspiring players. The score stood 14 to 12 in favor of Cudworth's players. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to other sports and an entertainment and the barges returned to Lowell in the evening.

Can you imagine a bunch of "Bills" going to Dracut to an outing in barges, in these enlightened days? Quarter of a century ago there was no Canobie Lake line and no autos or jits, and Donohoe's farm was much farther away than it is today.

That was a fine bunch of good old-timers who came up from Lawrence on that occasion. Hon. Edward F. O'Sullivan, the old Sun's original "Spell-binder," who became a member of the Sun staff in 1892 when it became a daily paper. "Neddo," as he was affectionately called, was a scholar, a writer of excellent prose and poetry, a teacher, having taught at Ottawa college, a politician and statesman, having sat in the senate, an athlete and a prince of good fellows. He was also a soldier, for having retired from the militia as a lieutenant, he enlisted as a private in the Spanish-American war, rose to be a lieutenant, and while in the service met with the illness that caused his death. Peace to his ashes! Then there was Hon. A. Bruce, former mayor of Lawrence, candidate for congress in the old fifth district and also democratic candidate for governor. Who does not recall the sunny countenance of Adolph Boehm, whose cafe in Lawrence was the mecca of all bon vivants? Win. Merrill was the son of the former insurance commissioner and was well known throughout the state. All of those and T. J. Murphy and Charles Burnham have since passed away, but in their day were among the best known and most highly respected citizens of the down-river city. "Joe" Dennison is today a well known attorney in Boston. "Joe" was a crack football player in former days and played with the famous old Laurel club of Lawrence, Phillips-Andover and West Point. For some time he wrote politics for the Boston Post and studied law with his brothers-in-law, the Cookleys of Boston and Cambridge. "Joe" Jackson at present is business manager for the firm of Curran & Joyce of Lawrence and the Harvard Brewery.

The Newsboys' Outing

Up to the time of his death, and for quarter of a century, the late J. L. Chalifoux annually gave a picnic to the newsboys of Lowell and it was ever some event. Quarter of a century ago Mr. Chalifoux entertained the boys at Mountain Rock and the best was none too good for them. Mr. Chalifoux always wore a tall hat on this occasion though he carefully selected an old one. The boys, when his back was turned, delighted in practicing marksmanship with the shining tin as a bull's eye, and Mr. Chalifoux good-naturedly stood for their assaults. After the boys had departed from the grounds quarter of a century ago Mr. Chalifoux entertained the newspaper men of the city at a dinner at Lakeview and he played no favorites for everybody was present from the state treasurer of the commonwealth, the late Editor Marden, of the old Courier down to the humblest cub reporter who could get away. Mr. Marden officiated as toastmaster in his inimitable manner and there was music by Cy Johnson, and Messrs. I. H. Sternberg of the News and Editor Gauthier of L'Etoile.

Difference in Census

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago: Mr. Wadlin gives the census of Lowell as 77,500 as near as he can go pending the result of the official count that have not been counted. Today we are of the same opinion relative to the latest census figures recently given out which place Lowell's population at only 107,000. In quarter of a century according to the figures we have increased 29,500 in population, or 100 years from now Lowell will be some city.

Corporation Notes

Under the above headline The Sun of quarter of a century ago had the following: Work is going on rapidly on the proposed changes in the Prescott street building which will be extended to Mer-rimeck street, the wing facing Prescott street cut off and the whole structure, 270 feet in length made three stories high, a flat roof taking the place of the peaked one that now covers it. A large lot of land facing on Prescott street will thus be left free and will be put upon the market. For three years the Massachusetts corporation has been replacing its vaults with closets and the work is practically finished. Two rows of houses were finished last year and four this year. The improvement has been a very important and costly one. Important and costly, perhaps, but not permanent, for the Massachusetts corporation houses have long since disappeared from the land, while the Prescott storehouse is hidden behind the Howe building, in Merrimack Square. Do you recall those corporation houses in East Merrimack street where the storehouse now stands, and that pump that stood in front of them? People came from all over town to get a drink of that Massachusetts pump water for if the Massachusetts corporation never did anything else for Lowell, it furnished the people of the city a superior quality of drinking water free of charge, in days when Lowell was taking chances with typhoid by drinking river water.

WHO CAUSED THE WAR?

Editor Sun: Will you please state to decide an argument what power started the war, and what power of powers were indirectly responsible for causing this the worst war in all history? By so doing you will greatly oblige.

Yours truly,

G. F. M.

It would be utterly useless for us to attempt to answer this general question with the hope of convincing anybody inasmuch as scarcely any two persons agree as to where the real responsibility for this war is to be placed. In reference to the origin of the war, however, some very peculiar reasoning has been advanced. Some, yes we might say a vast number, mainly pro-German in their sympathies, assert that England caused the war although with the exception of Japan and Italy she was last to declare war against Germany.

Arguing on that principle to wit, that the last power to enter the conflict is responsible for starting it, then Italy and not England caused the war, she being the power last to enter. But this reasoning is not ours and we present it only to show the absurdity of some of the arguments advanced in the controversy. On the other hand no just or fair conclusion can be drawn as to the responsibility for the war by pointing to the parties who actually started it. We shall have to look at the jealousies and the rivalries that sprang up among the leading European powers long before the war started. Her victory over France in 1870 led Germany to assume a great deal of importance and gave her apparently an ambition for other European conquests. France recovered from her defeat and the loss of Alsace and Lorraine; but she never forgot the defeat administered by the Germans, nor ever abandoned the hope that some day she would be in a position to retrieve what she had lost. Still she never showed any disposition to precipitate a war, her only aim being to be able to defend her possessions should war come. Once Germany had recovered from the effects of the war, she began to prepare for future conquests. She feared a union between France and England and silently, sullenly she began to build up a great war machine intended to smash both. All her inventive genius and her military prowess was turned to training for the next war. From year to year this training, this preparation went on and each year showed a distinct advance in all the military necessities for entering upon a great war. At length, Germany, conscious of her great power, became restive and diplomatically curt, saucy and domineering towards some of the other European powers. She began to look towards Asia and for this purpose became quite friendly with Turkey. To fortify herself in case of a European war, she formed an alliance with Austria and Italy while she was cultivating a friendly understanding with Turkey and had German captains training the Ottomans in military science.

The formation of the triple alliance led Russia to look around for allies in case of trouble, for to Russia the preparation being made by Germany and her alliance for military purposes with two important powers, became quite alarming. This brought into being the triple entente or the understanding between Russia, France and England for their common defense, and not for the purpose of aggression.

Here then we have the line-up, as it were, for the war, although neither France nor England nor for that matter Russia had any idea that a war involving the leading powers of Europe was even a remote possibility. This was particularly noticeable in England which had wasted nearly two years fooling with the Irish home rule question that could have been settled in thirty days, and with the suffrage agitation that had practically created a reign of terror in the empire. In India too, there was a feeling of discontent and a prospect of trouble. Sir Edward Carson went to Berlin for rifles and equipment for his volunteers and was obviously impressed by the supposed determination of the Orange leader. Mr. Carson got what he wanted and he left the German emperor convinced that a rebellion of large proportions was threatened in Ireland—something that would the England's hands in case of war. Here was the opportunity for Germany to extend her domain by conquest while England had trouble at home, and all that was needed was a casus belli—some plausible pretext for the declaration of war. The German emperor was anxiously scanning the horizon of Europe for anything that might be converted into a war cloud when the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria furnished the desired pretext.

On July 23, 1914, the Austro-Hungarian government, the ally of Germany, sent to Serbia an ultimatum of the most arbitrary nature demanding that all the persons connected in any way with the assassination should be punished and that the anti-Austrian propaganda in that country should be suppressed at once. Forty-eight hours were given for consideration of the demands which were granted within the time, with the exception of that which would give the Austrian officials a leading part in the punishment of the murderers. The Serbs asked for further information on this point. The reply was not satisfactory and Austria promptly declared war on Serbia and began moving troops over the border. The day after Austria declared war on Serbia, Russia notified the German ambassador, mind you, not the Austrian ambassador, that if Austria invaded Serbia, she, Russia, could not remain neutral. Here Germany was recognized as the dictator in the war against Serbia.

Great Britain proposed that a council should be arranged to mediate between the two disputants. Germany declined to become a party to any such arrangement. The czar appealed to the kaiser to use his influence with the Austrian emperor in behalf of a peaceful settlement of the difficulties. According to the German account, it was claimed the kaiser did this to the best of his ability but none of the opposing powers believe this statement. Next came a report that the troops of Russia were mobilizing whereupon the kaiser wired the czar to stop, that his course had made mediation impossible. Two days later the German emperor announced that the safety of the empire compelled him to prepare for national defense and he sent a twenty-four hour ultimatum to Russia, although the czar had made no threat on Germany. War being on between Germany and Russia, the German ambassador sounded France in reference to the war and being informed that France would protect her own interests war was immediately declared against France.

On August 2 Germany marched an army through the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg whose neutrality had been guaranteed by Germany in 1867. The following day Germany sent a note to the Belgian government demanding passage of her troops through the country to attack France, and to make way as appeared later towards the English channel.

Belgium got twelve hours to reply. She pluckily refused and then the war was on between her and Germany. At this violation of Belgian neutrality which had been jointly guaranteed by England and Germany, England felt that she could not honorably allow Germany to override a treaty in that manner and after due deliberation she declared war with Germany on August 4th. Then followed declarations of war by the allies against Austria-Hungary, and by Japan against Germany and finally by Italy against Austria.

Thus the powers got into the seething cauldron of war. Perhaps the question we have tried to elucidate is quite as involved as ever; but in all these matters it appears that Germany gathered a number of allies and then undertook to go to war with any power threatening any of them with harm. Russia had done nothing to hurt Germany when the latter declared war against her, and so it was with France and Belgium. Germany evidently thought England could not afford to enter the war and she felt that Italy would be with her. Italy, however, backed down and in order to recover territory from Austria joined the allies.

The charge was made that Germany was forced into the war by alleged commercial discrimination by England but for this charge there is not the slightest foundation as for years previous to the war England was so flooded with German goods that her factories were idle. England extended to Germany the privileges of free trade, but Germany had a protective tariff against imports from the British empire. Did that look like unfair treatment by England?

Perhaps the whole terrible affair of the beginning of this world war could be made plainer by a pugilistic simile. Joe got mad with the little chap Serby and proceeded to give him an awful lambasting when Alexander seeing the cowardice and the cruelty of the scrap said: "Here Joe you mustn't do that." Up steps Willie, the champion of the world, and says, "This fight must be allowed to go on and I will punch anybody who interferes." Alex didn't seem a bit scared whereupon William challenged him and his two friends Frank and John, offering to fight the whole bunch. So they all jumped in and the free fight was on. Little Serby got off easy, but another plucky little fellow named Belge got mixed with the giants and was almost crushed to death. The scrap is still on and will seem able to knock 'em down as fast as they get to him.

That is how it started and what interests us most now is how it is all going to end.

THE B. & M. SITUATION

The proposition of certain employees of the Boston & Maine railroad to precipitate a great strike in the mechanical departments is actually being considered in view of the very uncertain condition of the company from a financial standpoint.

The present management is making a very plucky fight against almost insuperable difficulties and if given a fair chance, it may be able to avoid bankruptcy and place the road on a basis that will guarantee better service to the public.

Speaking of the finances of the road, the Boston Advertiser says:

"It is well enough known that some $17,000,000 of notes must be met on September 2. If the road is not to go into the hands of a receiver, but new money of the plucky and really wonderful policy by which the road has been operated safely to date, unless handouts that cannot be overestimated of some very much longer with safety to the public."

It is plain that a strike of any extent would add to these handicaps and perhaps precipitate a crisis that would result in closing down the plants. The company is without money and without credit to obtain money so that any labor trouble coming at this time in addition to the great financial embarrassments may send the road into the hands of a receiver.

The train service has been marvellously cut and men who had long experience as engineers and conductors have been held as firemen and brakemen or in other inferior positions. These men are of great value in preventing accidents that would naturally result from the neglected conditions of the roadbeds, bridges and rolling stock if comparatively green men were in these positions. The slump in the stock of the Boston & Maine must naturally affect savings banks and fraternal insurance orders which invested largely in the company's securities.

The proposition to force the railroad to pay any large increase in wages, it would seem, would be on a par with that of getting blood from a stone. Even the labor men, one would imagine, should have some commiseration for a railroad under such unfortunate conditions.

Not until its financial difficulties are readjusted can the road proceed to make the necessary repairs and changes to meet the demands on the service. The stockholders after a period of patient waiting may again receive dividends and when the road is financially rehabilitated it may be able to pay better wages to its mechanics and other employees.

HOT WEATHER BAD FOR WOMEN'S NERVES

Season When They Most Need Their Strength to Withstand the Heat

Hot weather has a decidedly weakening effect on most women. They become too languid to exercise, and as a result have appetite only for light, tasty foods, like salads and other cold concoctions, which do not digest readily and increase the natural tendency to constipation.

At this season women should maintain the highest possible standard of health, to counteract the enervating effect of the weather. Good digestion and regularity of the bowels are essential. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a laxative and digestant by many physicians, as well as by thousands of women who depend upon it as a remedy for many of those ailments to which women seem more especially susceptible.

Get a fifty-cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it in the house. Take

LIFE SAVED AFTER OPERATION FAILED

Mrs. Clare Shaw of Providence Used Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Clare Shaw of 493 Dexter St., Providence, R. I., was a sufferer from stomach and liver troubles for many years. She was treated both in the United States and abroad. She underwent an operation. Still she suffered. Then she took May's Wonderful Remedy and found swift relief. In a letter telling of her case she said:

"I received your sample treatment the day before Christmas and it saved my life, for I was almost gone. I had an inflammation that got right up in my throat and seemed to choke me. My neighbors say it is a miracle, as they know how I suffered. I am better now than I have been for 20 years."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and live as long as you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

dignity of the courts and the majesty of the law. Had he granted a new trial the courts of New York would have been a byword and a reproach throughout the country. Everybody who has watched the case must realize that Becker got only his deserts in following the four gun men to the electric chair. The scandalous proceedings in the Thaw case reflected upon the courts of New York but now apparently not only the courts but the people are recovering from a state of mind in which they were willing to grant immunity to murderers, and to allow the course of justice to be defeated by the corrupt use of money.

Though the hairs of our heads are said to be numbered, we can never tell the back numbers that are missing.

CORN-FED BASS

It was only an inoffensive looking black bass with nothing in particular to commend it to the sagacious of scaly history. It was landed by a cottager in the vicinity of Lake Winnepesaukee it weighed about six pounds, to be sure, but it did not distinguish itself until it was being prepared for that seventh heaven of fish fillets—the pan. Then, however, the atmosphere began to change, and no wonder, according to the story, for what was found in its little insides but—a whole ear of green corn!

THE WAYS OF WOMEN

When it comes to verbal sparring we have to hand the palm to women. Listen to this about a woman who had forced her husband:

"I knew that woman wanted to know my complete history," she says, "but I guess she'll have to try again. She made the usual casting for information and I told her all about myself

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

A correspondent who signs himself "A regular reader" of the Quarter of a Century column has written me to express his appreciation of the articles that have appeared herein on the good old days of canoeing and boat racing on the Merrimack river, and to deplore the decadence of those health-

giving and interesting aquatic sports, for which Lowell had such picturesque and adequate facilities. Turning from his letter to the Sun of quarter of a century ago I find the following:

"The changes of the Vesper Boat club of this city were shipped to the 10th annual meet of the American Canoe association at Jessup's Neck, Peconic bay, L. I., and the members of the club left for that point on Wednesday evening. The speed of the trip was not in the least impaired by the fact that the officers of the Eastern division are Dr. J. A. Gage, of Lowell, vice commodore; A. S. Putnam, Worcester; rear, Ralph S. Brazer, Lowell; purser, E. E. Knapp, Springfield, member of the executive committee. Mr. Davis F. Goddard of Lowell is a member of the regatta committee. A beautiful cup, the A. C. A. sailing trophy, is the principal prize and among the contestants entered therefore are Messrs. Butler, Gray, Gage and Goddard of this city. Let us say in the race for the Peconic cup, Dr. J. A. Gage was the victor and should he again be the winner the cup becomes his property. Among his competitors on the present occasion are those excellent coxswains, Whitlock, Goddard, Quick, Knapp, Butler, Maston, Douglass, Vaux, Palmer and Schieffelin. The delegation from Lowell consists of Vice Commodore J. Arthur Gage, Purser R. F. Brazer, David S. Goddard, Howard Gray and Mrs. Gray. Dr. E. F. Lamson, John Rolfe, Win Tyler and Paul Butler."

But not only have the canoe racers disappeared from the river but the dainty little pleasure craft is seldom seen. One of the last articles written by the late John Boyle O'Reilly, just before his death, quarter of a century ago, was on the advantages of the canoe as a pleasure boat for exploring rivers and lakes and reaching some of the most romantic beauties of nature. Editor Gallagher commented editorially upon the article, in part as follows: "In opening he (O'Reilly) contrasts the merits of the canoe and row-boat and stigmatizes the latter as a relic of barbarism. Speaking of the recent development of the canoe, he says: 'Nothing can and nothing should stop the development of the canoe; its racing quality and its rig, which is rapidly going on. Within ten years the improvement in building, sailing and handling canoes has been one of the most striking and progressive canoe sailing, the most perfect of the most perfect, brilliant and audacious boatmen that ever set a sheet. It is another illustration of the infinite variety of the genius of America. Unless you go in a canoe you can never see the beauty of the pleasure boat for exploring rivers and lakes and reaching some of the most romantic beauties of nature. ## GENOA CAMP IN TYNGSBORO SCENE OF GREAT ACTIVITY YESTERDAY—GIRLS PLAY BALL

The annual basket picnic for the members and friends of the Knights of Columbus held at the Genoa camp, Tyngsboro, yesterday, proved very enjoyable and more than 2500 people visited the grounds during the day.

During the afternoon a long list of sports was carried out, and baseball games between two girls' teams and teams composed of married and single men were played. John Buckley and Rev. W. George Mullin, chaplain of the Knights of Columbus council, were the umpires, and although they were roasted at times by the players, their work proved entirely satisfactory to the large crowd that watched the contests.

Following the sporting events, refreshments were served in the clubhouse, with a number of hustling members as waiters, headed by Sergt. Hugh Maguire. The Middlesex County Training school band gave a highly enjoyable concert in the clubhouse in the evening dancing to the pleasing strains of Buckley's orchestra was enjoyed. The committee in charge of the successful affair was as follows:

J. F. Roark, G. K. Chalmers, H. R. Thomas, Hugh Maguire and Walter Healey. The sports committee, which provided valuable prizes in each event, was composed of: Melroy, chairman; E. Statter, Jr., C. E. McCarthy, Jr., John Golden and Edward Brennan.

The lineup of the ball teams and winners of the various sporting events were as follows:

Married men: Monahan, C. Sullivan, P. Molloy, B. O'Brien, 2b, Fitzgerald, 3b, McCarthy, ss, Thomas and Mower, cf, Coughlin, cf, Mealey, rf.

Single men: Hart and McCarthy, p, Slattery, 1b, McCullough, 2b, Sullivan, ss, Harrington, 3b, Wood, cf, Smith, cf, McCarthy, rf.

The game gave way to the girls on the diamond. Miss McCarthy's Belvideres team defeated a picked-up team, 7 to 2. Vera Duffy pitched for the Belvideres and she had everything.

The lineup for the four-inning game were:

Belvideres: Nellie Thomas, c, K. McCarthy, 1b, Vera Duffy, p, Louise Cull, 2b, Evelyn Barrows, ss, B. Walsh, 3b, E. McCarthy, rf, J. Grady, cf, M. Sharkey, lf.

"The Enemy"—B. Bernard, c, H. Webster, p, A. Scannell, 2b, S. Maloney, 1b, C. Hall, 3b, M. Lison, ss, M. Martin, cf, M. Concannon, rf, M. Flanagan, lf.

Stella Maloney was first in a field of 100 starters in the 100-yard dash. She won a gold brooch pin. Mary Lison was second and won a gold hatpin.

Ball throwing contest, for girls: First, Vera Duffy, set of sterling silver hatpins; second, Nellie Thomas, set of pearl beads.

Miss Eugene Montplaisier and Miss Malvina Montplaisier are at York Harbor, Me.

Mrs. C. H. Willis and daughter, Mary, of this city, are stopping at the Marie cottage, Salisbury beach.

Miss Frances Silverblatt leaves soon for a month's vacation to be spent at Winthrop and Nantasket.

Mrs. Elmer Deap, of 7 Ralph street and son, Raymond, are summering in Union, Me.

Mrs. Thomas Lancaster and family, and Miss Helen Pitts have returned from a two weeks' vacation at Salem Willows.

Mrs. Sarah Anderson, of 33 Bowers street, will spend the next five weeks at Salisbury beach and Amesbury, Mass., visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayden, formerly of Lowell.

Fred Barbeau of Broadway and his daughter, Blanche, left last night for Canada, where they will spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives in Montreal, Quebec and St. Paulin.

CHELMSFORD

William Brown of Felham is visiting his cousin, Bridgman Brown of North road.

Ormsby S. Court of Winchester is spending a part of his vacation with his grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Nichols.

The members of the Central Baptist society enjoyed their annual outing yesterday at Willow Dale.

Frederick Coburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. H. Coburn is visiting his aunt, Mrs. George A. Marshall of Fitchburg.

Edward Brennan, the popular National biscuit salesman, will be found registered at Hampton beach during the second and third weeks of August.

Walter McEvoy of the Bon Marche company and Richard Costello of a local automobile concern will spend the first two weeks of August at Hampton beach.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers' union who is conducting an organizing campaign in Springfield this week is expected home tomorrow night.

Michael Wren, special officer at the United States Customs house, will compete in the sporting events at the picnic to be conducted by St. John's parish of North Chelmsford at Nabnasset grove tomorrow.

Phil McNeely of Centralville is becoming more than prominent in local golf circles as a result of his classy exhibitions on the links during the past two weeks, and not one of the local cracks are over desirous of arranging a match with him.

"Bill" Marcotte, formerly third baseman for the Lawrence Manufacturing company baseball team, is being sought after by the management of the Kimball system aggregation.

Marcotte is one of the best infielders in local amateur circles but lacks ability with the war club.

Overseer Walmsley of the weaving department of the Massachusetts mills will accompany the Lawrence Manufacturing company team to Manchester tomorrow afternoon where the local team will line up against the All Stars, who are held to be one of the fastest aggregations in New Hampshire.

President Frank Warnock of the Trades & Labor council and Organizer Daniel E. Whelan of the Boot & Shoe Workers' union took in the double-header at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon. Mr. Warnock, who is an old admirer of Hugh Duffy, and who delights in telling of the games at the old River street ground, enjoyed the double bill immensely, as did Mr. Whelan who is an ardent follower of the local team now that it has hit its proper stride.

Bakers' Open Meeting: Trades & Labor hall in Middle street was taxed to capacity last evening when an open meeting and get-together for the bakers of the city was held by the labor forward organizing committee for the purpose of organizing the bakers into a union.

Frank Warnock, president of the Trades & Labor council, was in the chair and called the session to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Quoting to report business in other fields, Organizer Jack Zarnoff of Chicago who was to be the principal speaker at the meeting was unable to be present. Those who addressed the gathering were: Daniel E. Whelan, organizer for the Boot & Shoe Workers' union, who spoke on the union label; President Frank Warnock of the Trades & Labor council, and Timothy Roark, past president of the Trades & Labor council. Following the program a well arranged musical program was served. A number of applications for membership in the new union were received and it was decided to hold further meetings on Saturday nights commencing August 7.

Painters' Union: The regular weekly meeting of the Painters' union was held last night in the Carpenter's hall, Bunels building, with a large attendance. A list of twelve new members were admitted and the business agent's report showed the members of the organization to be steadily employed and the secretary reported the financial condition of the union to be in excellent standing.

Billerica Blacksmiths

Local 519, Billerica Blacksmiths' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, held a meeting last night in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, at which it was voted to turn out in the Labor day parade. President Frank Warnock of the Trades & Labor council, chief marshal of the Labor day parade, gave a stirring address on organization and he also outlined the plans for the coming pageant. The local appointed F. A. Sargent and Geo. A. McCullough to the Federation of Crafts. The third member already in office is F. A. Farnsworth.

Billerica Blacksmiths

A very interesting meeting of the Billerica Blacksmiths' union was also held in Odd Fellows building last night, at which several matters of importance were discussed. It was voted unanimously to turn out in the Labor day parade. Two new members were initiated and several applications for membership were referred to the investigating committee.

Carpenters' District Council

Representatives of the three local unions of Carpenters met in attendance at the regular weekly meeting of the Carpenters district council held last evening in the Bunels building. Considerable business of importance was transacted. William H. Walsh of Brookline, president of the state council was present to pledge the support of the state branch in a campaign now being carried on for the purpose of unionizing all shops in this city. General Organizer William Shields of Worcester and Business Agent Michael A. Lee of this city, were looking after the arrangements of the campaign submitted progressive reports.

DR. NACHMAN HELLER

GUEST OF RABBI WOLFSON WILL DELIVER ADDRESSES TOMORROW AT LOCAL SYNAGOGUES

Dr. Nachman Heller, widely known as a scholar, journalist, Zionist and linguist, is a visitor in this city, the guest of Rabbi E. Wolfson, 118 Howard street, and will give a series of addresses at both the Montefiore society, Howard street, and Congregation of Jacob, McIntyre street, delivering his lectures at the latter tomorrow, Saturday, at 9 o'clock in the morning, in the course of the regular Sabbath services, and at the Montefiore synagogue on Saturday afternoon, during vesper meeting, at 4 o'clock, and again on Sunday, Aug. 1st, at 6 p. m. The Shema, constituting, as it will, part and parcel of the day's chanting from the scroll of the Mesaleh law, the visiting rabbi will use certain passages thereof as topics and subjects for his discourse. The war and its atrocities will likewise turn pabulum for the rabbi's lectures and orations, in connection with the previously mentioned discussion.

The rabbi is widely known as a journalist, author and a man of letters, his lucubrations, investigations and fiction filling columns and pages of newspapers and periodicals of all shades and tendencies. While in the bookish world, he recently published the scriptural books of Daniel and Ezra, the Aramaic text of the canon and his own translations of English, Yiddish and Hebrew, the latter tongue is but the ingenious invention of the scholarly rabbi, the two mentioned books never having any Hebrew, for ostensible reasons, the Chaldean turning the expedient substitute.

Dr. Heller has traveled extensively and preached in numerous cities of both the United States and Canada, delivering messages of Zionism, altruism and Judaism to co-religionists and kinsmen. He is stirring and forceful, savoring his discourses with timely remarks and appropriate phrases.

The rabbi comes highly recommended, and among his recommendations and testimonials there are two letters penned by former presidents, Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft.

Dr. Heller will be entertained by Messrs. S. Silverblatt and D. Ziskind, presidents of the Congregation of Jacob and Montefiore society, respectively.

TEST ON CITIZEN ACT

HAVERHILL, July 30.—So far nothing has been done in Haverhill towards complying with the law requiring cities and towns to employ only citizens of the commonwealth as mechanics or laborers on public works. The attention of Mayor Bartlett was called this morning to the bill of equity brought by taxpayers of Lynn against the commissioner of public works, commissioner of water works, and commissioner of streets who announced recently that they intended to comply with section 21, chapter 51A of the acts of 1909 and chapter 600 of the acts of 1914 and discharge workmen in their departments who were not citizens of the state, and he said: "We shall go extremely slow in the enforcement of a law of that kind."

The full bench of the supreme court is expected to be called upon to pass upon the constitutionality of the law.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Johnson and Miss Alice Gougher took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Patrick's parochial residence, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Kerrigan. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Augusta Gallagher, while Mr. Henry Twohey, cousin of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The bride wore white crepe de chine with lace trimmings and carried bridal roses, while the bridesmaid was attired in yellow and carried yellow roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 18 Butterfield street, after which the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon trip. They will be at home to their friends after Sept. 1st.

and upon the constitutionality of the law as a result of the petitioners' action as they declare the law deprives citizens of the nation of their rights and privileges.

When the law first went into effect Alderman Wood found that of the 170 men employed in the street department at that time only 77 were voters. But as the law does not refer to voters, as many of the employees might be citizens and still not take advantage of their right to vote, the investigation failed to determine anything.

The law would work the greatest hardship in the water department where many men of foreign birth are employed and who through lack of education are unable to become citizens. Still these same men are property owners and tax payers and Mayor Bartlett welcomes the effort on the part of the Lynn taxpayers to determine the constitutionality of the law.

BOARD OF TRADE

Annual Outing Held at
Canobie Lake Was
Best Ever

Nearly 200 members of the Lowell board of trade or to be exact, 170, attended the annual field day of the organization which was held at Canobie Lake park and it was a happy lot that returned to Lowell in the early evening, for the event proved to be one of the best in the history of the organization. The car ride both ways was ideal, the dinner excellent and the sporting events very amusing.

The excursionists left Merrimack square in three special cars at 12:15 o'clock and arrived at the grove an hour later. Upon alighting from the cars it was learned that Gen. Graves who had charge of the dinner, was not quite ready to receive the visitors and accordingly all repaired to the ball park where a group photograph was taken.

The dinner bell then sounded and an exit from the park to the pavilion was in order. The rain sent themselves around the festive board and partook of a course dinner, which they discussed with great appetite, much to the satisfaction of the chef.

It was then time to open the outdoor program and Arthur W. Saunders and Daniel W. Shanahan, who were in charge of the sporting events, announced the first number to be a pillow fight and the first two to mount the wooden horse were President Marden and Thomas J. O'Donnell. This proved a screaming event and the large gathering watched with interest the novel contest. The two men went at it with pillows and for several minutes kept their audience in constant laughter. Suddenly Mr. O'Donnell lost his balance and Mr. Marden, taking advantage, struck him a forceful blow over the head, sending him to the mat below. The next man to mount the horse was Secretary Murphy and he proved an easy mark for he did not even have a chance to strike his opponent. D. A. Mackenzie came next in line and he proved the master of the situation. He quickly disposed of Mr. Marden and all others who faced him on the hobby-horse.

Another feature of the afternoon was the golf contest, which consisted of driving the golf ball out of sight if possible. The winner of this event was Alanson Gray with H. Stanley Chrysler, second and 10 or 15 others, third. The 100-yard dash for fat men was also very interesting. About a dozen men tipping the scale at 200 or more entered the contest and again D. A. Mackenzie proved the hero of the situation with Secretary Murphy a close second.

Last but not least on the program was the ball game between Pitts' Pets and Small's Midgets, the line-up of both teams being as follows:

Pitts: c. Feinzel p. Chrysler 1b. McCarthy and Marden 2b. Kimball 3b. Wilson ss. Nyberg cf. Alexander cf. Hunt lf.

Small: c. Donohoe p. Clogston 1b. Harvey 2b. Reynolds and Flaherty ss. Master 3b. Dearth cf. Sarre lf. O'Hearn rf.

Arthur W. Saunders acted as umpire and at the close of the game when he announced the score was 12 to 12 in favor of Pitts' Pets, he was forced to seek shelter under the grandstand, for the members of the other team were equipped with pillows and meant to do him harm. The park police was called, however, and after a lengthy argument, during which the umpire signified his intention of changing his decision and giving each team 12-12 runs, hostilities were called off.

There was a prize for the tallest and shortest men and after each man in the party had been measured by a committee, F. M. Barney, who proved to be 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches in height was awarded the prize for the long

JAPANESE CABINET QUILTS

TOKIO, July 30, 2:15 p. m.—The Japanese cabinet, headed by Count Okuma as premier, has tendered its resignation to Emperor Yoshihito. This action followed the resignation yesterday of Viscount Kanetake Oura, minister of the interior, following an investigation by the ministry of justice into bribery charges resulting from the parliamentary elections last March. Viscount Oura's resignation was sanctioned by the emperor after a report on the situation had been made to him by Count Okuma.

Premier Okuma, believing he should hold himself responsible for the acts of the members of his cabinet, was the first to tender his resignation. The other ministers immediately decided to follow the example of their chief.

After receiving Count Okuma, the emperor summoned the elder statesmen for a conference. A cabinet change at this time is unpopular with the public because of the war.

Two cases have been mentioned as responsible for the crisis. The first was the charge that 10,000 yen ($6000) had been offered Viscount Oura by a candidate for the house as the price for keeping a rival candidate out of the field. The minister of the interior denied having accepted this but K. Hayashida, chief secretary of the lower house, who was arrested Wednesday, has been quoted as admitting having received the money and distributing it for campaign purposes.

The second case involves two representatives charged with accepting bribes to desert the Seiyukai, or conservative party and support the government in its campaign for an increase in the army.

The elder statesmen will meet tomorrow and it is considered probable they will advise that Count Okuma be invited to retain the office of premier and reconstruct the cabinet. The name of Lord Gon. Count Terauchi, governor-general of Korea also has been suggested, however, for the post of premier.

STATE AUDITOR

Charles H. McIntyre, attorney, of this city, was named as a candidate for the progressive nomination for state auditor last night by a special committee appointed to draft a state ticket, this completing the ticket with the exception of lieutenant governor.

For this position, however, the progressives have a prominent eastern progressive all groomed, and his acceptance is expected any moment. Ex-Senator Charles M. Cox of Melrose, on account of his health, declined the nomination.

Another development in the progressive situation was the conclusive evidence that Nelson B. Clark of Beverly would remain in the race for the nomination for governor despite the decision of William Shaw, the prohibitionists' candidate, to enter the primaries of the progressives. Clark will make his campaign as a straight out and out progressive, and from the present lineup will receive plenty of support.

There is already evident amongst the rank and file of the progressives a spirit of opposition to the prohibition plank which Mr. Shaw demands in the platform, and it is freely predicted that they will come to grief in the convention of that party. Although Clark will not make this part of his campaign, it is clearly evident that the anti-prohibitionists amongst the progressives will rally to his support.

The progressive state committee, it was learned, will not hold a meeting for some time, and the party will abide by the action of its sub-committee, to whom it delegated its powers. So that at the primaries there will be one state ticket below lieutenant governor, with the only contest between Clark and Shaw for governor.

A slight mishap to the ticket came about during the day, when Russell A. Wood of the efficiency and economy commission declared that he might not be a candidate for the nomination of secretary of state. However, as he qualified this by an admission that he would do it for the sake of the party, and also gave hints that he had been well consulted before his name was used, this was not looked on as serious.

FUNERALS

WRIGHT—The funeral of Mrs. Geo. C. Wright was held yesterday afternoon from her late home, 33 Fairview street. A simple and dignified service was read by Rev. James de Normandie, D. D., of Boston, the clergyman who many years before had officiated with the late Dr. E. E. Hale at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wright. There was no music, but appropriate poetical selections were read. A profusion of flowers testified to the esteem in which Mrs. Wright was held by her wide circle of friends. The bearers were Messrs. Robert H. Bean, Alfred Bullard, George E. Bullard, Samuel B. Doggett and Robert S. Lunt of Boston, relations of Mrs. Wright, and Hon. Charles S. Lunt of Lowell. Arrangements at the house were in the charge of Philip S. Marden. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery, under the direction of C. M. Young & Co.

NUNES—The funeral of Georgina Nunes was held yesterday from the home of her parents, Vincent and Maria Nunes, 32 Charles street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church, Rev. Joseph A. Paricio officiating. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons were in charge.

CHASE—The funeral of Charles W. Chase was held yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons, Rev. A. B. Riggs officiated. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Weidman and Miss Mary Welber. The body was sent to Presque Isle, Me. for burial.

McGLAULIN—The funeral of Mr. Frederick L. McGlaulin took place this morning from his late home, 429 Worthen street, at 9 o'clock, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Edward Kerrigan. The bearers were Messrs. D. Hett, P. Cheney, J. Foley and J. Sweeney. The many floral offerings were: Pillow, "Husband and Father," from the family; cross on base, "Goodbye, Fred," Edward McNamara, and pieces from Mr. and Mrs. Carl McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Cheney, employees of the cotton department of Bigelow Carpet company; clock, suit and alteration department of the Boston Store; Mr. and Mrs. Foley, Mrs. Parway and Mrs. McGlynn, Miss Mulvanity. The interment was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BEAUCHESE—The funeral of Leonel Beauchese took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beauchese, 134 Gershom avenue. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

MASS NOTICE

A month's mind high mass of requiem will be sung tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 11:15 at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, for the soul of Nellie A. Ward, at the request of the Young Ladies' sodality.

IN POLICE COURT

Continued

Peter Marquis, James Gorman and James Murphy were walking through the common when some boys unknown to any of the witnesses called Peter and a companion bad names and reflected upon their native country. Peter's companion, it was claimed, threw a stone at the group, hitting Marquis. The latter then ran back to get even and was knocked down and overpowered by the man with the defendant. When Randall attempted to pull the man off his chest, it is claimed, he was stabbed in the back by Peter. Dr. E. J. Clark said the wound was not serious.

The boys denied that they had ever thrown stones at men on the common. They also said that they had nothing to do with calling the defendant bad names or names of any kind, but were passing along peacefully. When questioned by his Honor they admitted that they frequented the common regularly but said they never made a nuisance of themselves. One said that the gang with which he is affiliated is made up of boys who are good "sometime."

The defendant testified that he and his chum were called bad names and they attempted to have the boys go along and mind their own business. When they refused he admitted that he struck one, but denied using any weapon.

His Honor said that he had no doubt but the trouble was brought on by the boys themselves. He said that he had not been used by the boys and had more sympathy for the defendant. He said that officers had called at his home, nearby, and told of boys bothering foreigners who were sitting quietly on the common. A fine of $10 was imposed. T. J. Donahue appeared for the defendant.

Milk Dealers Fined

As a result of visits by State Inspector Frederick L. Marlon to Lowell's suburbs last week two milk dealers were brought before the court this forenoon.

Matthew J. Bennett of Billerica pleaded guilty to having, in his possession a half pint of milk to which water had been added. Bennett has a farm near the Billerica-Burlington town line and delivers milk in Pinehurst park and Woburn. Inspector Marlon took a half pint of milk from his wagon which, when analyzed at the state house in Boston, showed a small amount of water had been added. Defendant was ordered to pay a fine of $10, it being his second offense.

The other man was John Kelpa, a Dracut milk producer. He pleaded not guilty to having in his possession watered milk with intent to sell but the court ruled the evidence presented by the government was conclusive and imposed a fine of $50.

Inspector Marlon stated that he went to the defendant's milk plant on July 22 and found nine cans of milk in a tub of cold water. A sample was taken from each receptacle and seven of the nine contained about 10 percent of water. It was stated.

Kelpa had little to say in his own behalf but denied that he put water in his milk. He testified that he raises milk and sells it to dealers. When the fine was imposed, Kelpa said he had no money with which to pay it, but when the court informed him he would either have to pay the money or go to jail, he quickly produced a roll and paid the fine.

Were Only Fooling

Disturbing the peace by fighting on a public street was the charge preferred against Ali Mohammed and Mohammed Hamed, when the duo appeared in court.

Officer Ealy testified that about 11:30 o'clock yesterday he discovered a large and interesting crowd gathered on Middlesex street, near the depot, and upon investigation found the two defendants engaged in a lively bout. He interceded and placed both under arrest.

Omer J. Smith, custodian of the police station, was a witness of the conflict and was called to give his version of the trouble. Omer said both men were exchanging blows with a vengeance and blood was very much in evidence.

Defendants said they were simply fooling with each other when interrupted by the officer. Hamed accounted for a bloody nose by saying he ran into a brick building near the railroad tracks. In answer to Deputy Downey's questions, he denied that he had any of the bricks.

His Honor found both guilty and ordered each to contribute $10 to Acting Clerk Tor's cash box.

Placed on File

Charles Manassian, who was arrested in April for assault and battery upon Harry Shain, had his case placed on file today on account of costs. John J. McClure, appearing for the complainant, stated that a settlement had been made between complainant and defendant.

The Drunken Offenders

There were six drunken offenders in court and five were allowed their freedom by Probation Officer Slattery earlier in the day. Two were of the fair sex and were placed on probation. Bernard F. Meehan made his fourth appearance within a year and will spend the next four months with Sheriff Eveheth on Thornehill street. Two others were given 10 day sentences to sober off and another second offender agreed to pay a fine of $6 within the next three weeks.

LATE WAR NEWS

man emperor accompanied by his consort.

With Warsaw captured, whether or not it proves a conquest of lasting strategic advantage, a great wave of enthusiasm will sweep over Germany and Austria-Hungary and it is predicted here that the armies of the central powers will then seek to force a period of trench warfare in the east, meanwhile throwing a great weight of men and guns to the west with the idea of resuming the battering towards Calais and perhaps Paris.

Lloyd George sounds warning. In the west there has been little in recent days to break the monotony of mining and bombing from the North sea to the Swiss frontier.

The British public is so little impressed with the events in the east that David Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions, in a speech yesterday apparently thought it necessary to drive home the gravity of the situation in the minds of those inclined to over optimism, reminding them that reverses in Russia would mean increased pressure on the western allies and summing up his opinion with the admonition that "the situation is serious if not perilous."

St. John's Parish Picnic Tomorrow—Store Broken Into at Crystal Lake—Personal Items

St. John's annual parish picnic, which is one of the leading events of the summer season in the village, will be held at Nabnesset grove tomorrow afternoon, and present indications point to the affair being given more successful than the outings held in former years.

The members of the various committees, under the supervision of James P. Walker as general manager, have spared no efforts to assure a most enjoyable time for the large gathering that is expected to attend, and if the weather man is in harmony with the committee a number of pleasant surprises will be sprung.

The start for the grove will be made from Stevens' corner at 1 o'clock, and automobiles and auto busses will be used as a means of transportation. These will run between the grove and the village continuously during the afternoon and evening.

On the arrival of the party at the grove, boating, bathing, field sports and all sorts of amusements will be enjoyed. The feature of the afternoon's program, of course, will be the five-mile marathon, in which some of the most prominent athletes in New England are expected to enter. Two valuable cups, which will be given as prizes for this event, are on exhibition in one of the postoffice windows. Other track events will bring out the best athletic talent of the district and vicinity, and a baseball game between the Mysteries of Lowell and St. John's will furnish plenty of enthusiasm for the fans.

The Middlesex county training school band will render a special musical program during the evening, and in the evening, preceding the dancing, the orchestra of Lowell will give a pleasing concert. The grounds will be brilliantly illuminated during the evening with electric lights for the first time in the history of the grove, the electrical arrangements being in charge of Joseph Ryan.

The midway, with its aerial wheels, merry-go-rounds and other attractions, will undoubtedly attract deserved attention, as will other features which have been planned for the amusement and comfort of the great crowd which is sure to be on hand when the festivities are formally opened.

Break at Crystal Lake
"Joe" Steinberg's store, which is situated near the dance hall at Crystal Lake, was broken into this week and a large quantity of cigars, cigarettes, candy, tonic and other merchandise was taken. Entrance was made, it is reported, through a rear window, which was found open. The police authorities of the village were notified soon after the discovery of the burglary by Mr. Steinberg, and they are now working on several promising clues.

News of the Mills
The Silesia mills are running full time with a full complement of help at work, and the C. C. Moore mills are very busy. The machine plant in the village is still operating on a night and day schedule, and the Lowell Textile Co. has sufficient work on hand to keep a large force of help steadily employed.

St. John's Baseball Team
While the major leaguers, Connecticut leaguers, New England leaguers, minor leaguers, mill leaguers and painters leaguers were battling for supremacy at Lowell last Saturday, a large crowd of followers of St. John's baseball team, which has not been defeated this season, watched Ryan, the star pitcher of the aggregation, turn the tables on a fast team representing the Middlesex county training school. Ryan did not allow a hit or a run, thus hanging up a record for himself in North Chelmsford baseball circles. Four new players have been signed by the management of the team and they will play against the Mysteries of Lowell at the parish picnic tomorrow afternoon. The new additions include Beauregard, whose hitting was a feature of last Saturday's game; McCann, Shea and Murphy of Lowell.

Court Warranted, M. C. O. F.
Court Warranted, M. C. O. F. held a largely attended and interesting meeting in Foresters hall in Mount Pleasant street this week, at which considerable business of importance came up for transaction. Chief Ranger Michael Welsh presided and called the meeting to order promptly at 8 o'clock. Much interest was shown in the report of the outgoing committee, which has arranged for a clam bake to be held at the Dunn farm, Dunstable, on Aug. 15, and other matters of special import were discussed.

Plymouth Mission
At the Plymouth mission on Sunday Kirkby S. Taylor will have for his sermon-subject: "Why Was Jesus Silent When Standing at Pilate's Judgment Bar?" There will also be an appropriate musical service.

St. John's Church
The masses on Sunday at St. John's church will be celebrated at the regular hours, and benediction will be held after the last mass. During the summer months the Sunday school classes have been suspended. During the services the church choir will render a special musical program.

St. Alban's Mission
The evening service on Sunday at St. Alban's mission will commence at 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. Wilton Waters of Chelmsford Centre as the preacher.

Embroidery Club
The last meeting of the Embroidery club for the present season was held at the home of Miss Vera Ranson in Cottage Row this week, with every member in attendance. Following the meeting, an impromptu musical program, to which every member contributed, was carried out and refreshments were served. So much work has been accomplished during the past season that the members of the organization look forward to the resumption of their embroidery activities when all have returned from their vacations, which will be some time in September.

Mrs. P. S. Ward and her two daughters are visiting relatives in Canada. Herbert Hadley is spending a few weeks with relatives in New Hampshire.

John McEnaney, John McManomin and James McQuade will spend the first two weeks of August at Squam Lake, N. H.

William Ballinger, the popular overseer of carding and combing at the Silesia mills, is spending his vacation at Salisbury, Mass.

The many friends of Miss Gladys Prince of Middlesex street, will be pleased to learn that she has completely recovered from a recent illness and is able to be back at her employment at the Lowell Textile Co.

Mrs. Clara McEnaney of Clinton, Mass. has been spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. James McCoy, at the latter's home in Church street.

Peter Curran, foreman of the drawing-in department of the Silesia mills, and family have returned after spending an enjoyable vacation at Crystal Lake.

James McEnaney of Princeton street has returned after spending a week's vacation at Baptist pond, Chelmsford Centre.

Edward Dunn and family of Quigley avenue have removed their residence to South street, Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Green of Quigley avenue are rejoicing over the birth of a baby.

Non John Jacob Rogers was a visitor in the village this week, and while here renewed several old acquaintances.

John Carrian, a prominent resident of the village, who has been attending the San Francisco exposition for the past month, is expected home next week.

A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nupoleon Gaudette this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fields, Mrs. John Marinel, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cassidy and Miss Stella Carkins left this week on an automobile trip to Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Scollan, Miss Anna Welsh and George Welsh are spending the week at Salisbury beach, Edwinstown, the popular night gatekeeper at the Middlesex street crossing, is enjoying a three weeks vacation.

Miss Tulle Moore and Miss Mahel of the team and they will play against the Mysteries of Lowell at the parish picnic tomorrow afternoon. The new additions include Beauregard, whose hitting was a feature of last Saturday's game; McCann, Shea and Murphy of Lowell.

Mrs. M. W. Dusan and her two children are paying a return visit to the village, staying at the home of Alfred Freese, Miss Dusan's brother-in-law, in Washington street.

The many friends of Miss Flora Tucker, who has been confined to her home for some time past with illness, will be pleased to learn that she is improving.

Mrs. Fred White and daughter, Frances, and Ella Johnson are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Quist.

Mrs. Elmer Trull and daughter are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Toye.

Mrs. Peter Miller is attending a convention at Springfield.

Mrs. Frank Dowd of Penacook, N. H., is visiting her sisters, the Misses Farley.

Mrs. Sarah Dusey, who has been ill for some time, is now much improved in health.

Mrs. Sarah Dusey, who has been ill for some time, is now much improved in health.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN BY NATIONAL ABSTAINERS' UNION—$100,000 TO BE EXPENDED

NEW YORK, July 29.—Plans were announced today by Albert B. Rogers, treasurer of the National Abstinence Union, for a nation-wide temperance movement in which it proposed to expend $100,000 during the first year. Moving pictures shown in public halls and factories are expected to be a powerful adjunct to the work.

The movement is an outgrowth of plans of the Churches of Christ in America, representing 30 denominations with a communicant membership of 17,500,000 persons.

Mr. Rogers said: "We shall not demand prohibition or urge prohibitive laws, but we will show the money wasted in the liquor traffic."

SHOULD BE RECOMPENSED

LONDON PAPERS COMMENT ON COTTON—HOW TO SATISFY U. S. COTTON GROWERS

LONDON, July 30, 12.23 p. m.—Whatever action the British government takes with regard to cotton—whether it merely be kept out of Germany or declared contraband—the specter of an editorial article today expresses the opinion that the southern cotton growers of the United States should be recompensed.

"The pressure" this newspaper goes on to say "which the enormous cotton industry of the democratic south can bring to bear on a democratic president is indeed the crux of the situation. It may be the British government will find that scheme which it is said to be considering, of compensating American cotton growers by buying a proportion of their crop over and above the British normal purchases, is feasible."

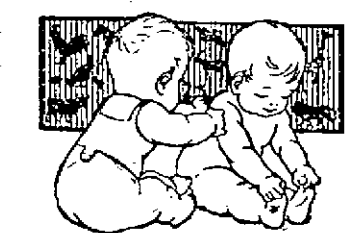

"If this were thought possible and right, it would need hardly say, be an enormous satisfaction to Englishmen to feel that the scruples of the American government for a precedent and the grievances of the southern cotton planters had been satisfied."

TORPEDOED AND SUNK

OFFICERS OF ST. CECILIA SAW SCOTTISH MONARCH SUDDENLY DISAPPEAR

NEW YORK, July 30.—Officers of the steamer St. Cecilia, which arrived today after having delivered a cargo of supplies for the Belgian relief commission at Rotterdam, reported being in sight of the steamer Scottish Monarch after leaving New York on June 18 until shortly after entering the "war zone" when the Scottish Monarch suddenly disappeared. On arriving at Rotterdam the officers learned the steamer had been torpedoed and sunk.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate Saturday, July 31st, 1915, at 3 P. M.

AT 43 TOLMAN AVENUE, PAWTUCKETVILLE

By power of a certain mortgage given I will sell at public auction a very conveniently arranged cottage house that has seven rooms, a dining room, a bath room, and 6341 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of 50 feet on Tolman Avenue.

This house is very pleasantly laid out, has a high porch, well lighted cellar. The first floor has front hall, parlor, living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry and bath room. The second floor has three high posted chambers and store room.

The house has gabled roof, giving pleasant sleeping rooms, has all open plumbing, furnace heat, city water and gas. The lot is high, well fenced, has cement curbing in front. Tolman Avenue leads off Mammoth road. Electric cars almost at your door, near churches, schools and stores. This is a very pleasant location for a family, where you can get sunshine in every room in the house, where you can have a little garden, keep a few hens and enjoy the best that this world holds for you and still reach the center of the city in 15 minutes.

Call any time before the sale and look the property over, then come and bid. Sale positive rain or shine.

Terms of sale: $2000 must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as sold. Other terms at sale. W. D. REGAN, Attorney for Mortgagee.

CITY HALL NEWS

condemned by Engineer Bowers and others, stating at that time he proved one of the men who condemned the bridge did not know his business. The fact remains, however, that Commissioner Morse never rode a steam roller over the bridge, but simply acted as a spectator in front of the roller while the big machine was driven across the bridge by Capt. Prouty.

Engineer Walter R. Denman, who drew the plans for the proposed bridge was present at the meeting, but he did not take part in the deliberations. W. T. & Bartlett was also present. Swain to attend the hearing to be given the Locks & Canals Co. and the mayor objected on the grounds that Mr. Swain had already received enough money from the city, but Mr. Bartlett said Mr. Swain should be present at any cost. The mayor said that Prof. Swain had been paid $550 for his report on the Denman plans.

The Jitney bus ordinance was again taken up and after Lawyer Donahue was heard on the matter the council voted to have the ordinance go into effect Sept. 1 instead of Aug. 1 and also to change the license fee from $5 to $1. In the course of his argument Mr. Donahue said the Bay State St. Ry. Co. should be restricted in the number of passengers on each car as well as the jitneys, and he side-tracked his issue to inform the council if he were a commissioner he would not bother with the Locks & Canals Co., but would simply seize some of its land for the construction of the new bridge.

The meeting, which was scheduled to be held at 10 o'clock, was opened at 10:45 o'clock by Mayor Murphy with all members present.

A requisition was presented by the board of health for the purchase, through the regular channel, of a car load of oats to be delivered not later than Aug. 2, and it was so voted.

The mayor read the communication received from the land and harbor commission in reference to the building of the Pawtucket bridge which was published in yesterday's issue of The Sun.

A communication was received from the Locks & Canals company, asking for a public hearing on the Pawtucket bridge not before Aug. 5, and signed by Hiram P. Mills. The letter was placed on file and a hearing ordered for a hearing ordered for Aug. 10.

An order for the sprinkling of a number of streets, the cost to be charged to the abutters, was read and adopted.

Commissioner Morse spoke on the Pawtucket bridge matter and proved that it was not a risk to take in asking the new experiment to "put it to the test." Mr. Morse said he is not playing politics. "I am in favor of a concrete bridge, but it looks now as if we would have a steel bridge. The maintenance of steel bridges means an expenditure of large sums of money."

"It seems we have to get a conference with Mr. Swain, who said we have to have a channel 15 feet deep. Mr. Denman and myself spoke on the bridge question. There will be no crusher on the job for we have derricks to remove the rocks."

"This conference is something new to me. There is not a man in the city whom I thought would play politics."

Mr. Morse then made a mental detour, flitting a little with sewers and sewer costs, and finally got back and knocked at the door to his subject. He said that if the Locks & Canals Co. obstruction stands, he will have to plank the bridge at a cost of about $500.

"If we are going to have this conference," he said, "I want to know if I will plank the bridge at a cost of from $100 to $500. The commissioner again referred to his favorite story of the steam roller crossing the Pawtucket bridge and also indulged in a little reminiscence concerning the laying of the sewer in Merrimack Sq."

"Politics who ever thought of politics last spring?" continued Mr. Morse. He concluded by saying "bridge or no bridge, I may get trimmed next year, but I doubt it. Now I would like to know what I am going to do about planking the bridge?"

"This matter," said the mayor, "is up to yourself, and I don't think it is necessary to spend $500 on the bridge, for there is no doubt in my mind that the old bridge will be replaced by a new one. I would simply put in the temporary planks that are needed."

Mr. Morse: "I have patched up a lot already and if I go on ripping it I will not know when to stop."

Jitney Bus Ordinance

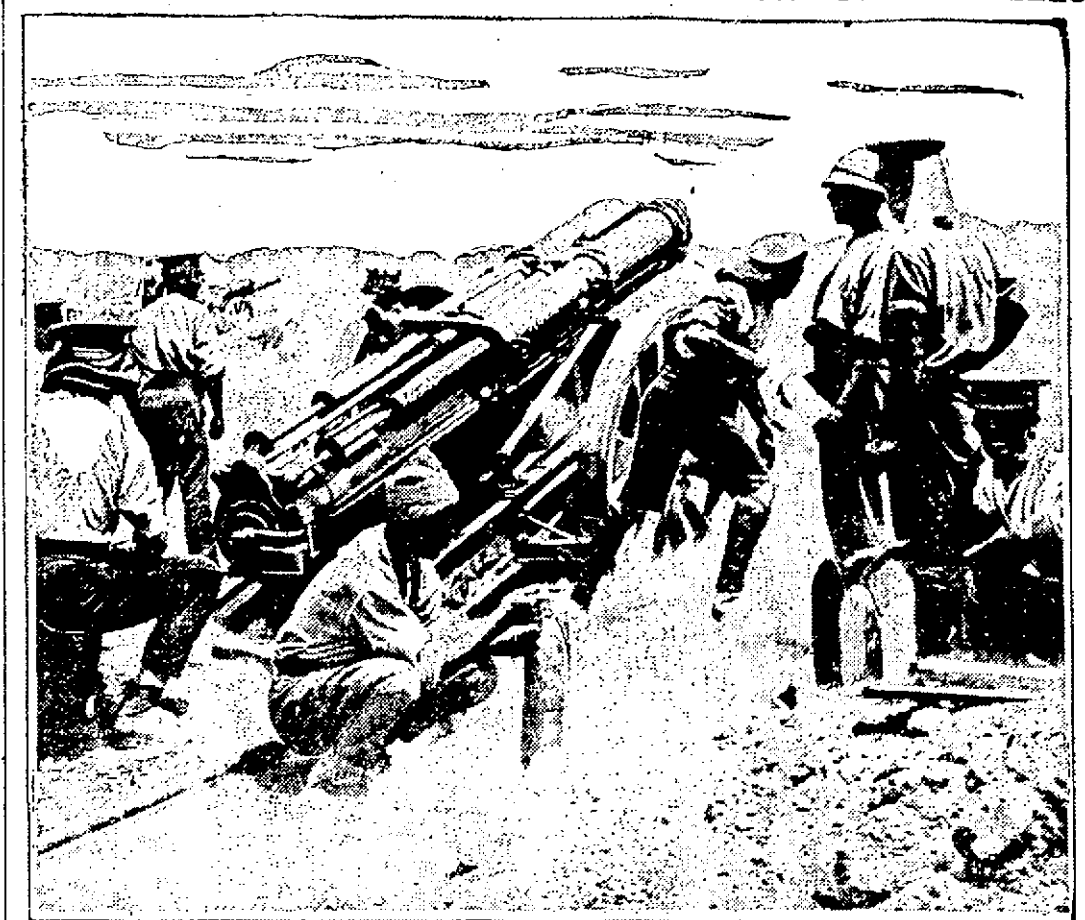

The petition in reference to the amending of the Jitney bus ordinance was again taken up.

Lawyer Robbins appearing for one of the petitioners said he was informed by local insurance representatives that the companies do not insure jitneys.

Lawyer Donahue came to the front and said he believed the ordinance is illegal. He said a similar question went to the attorney general and the latter gave as his opinion that the act before the legislature and which was to go into effect July 1, was illegal and unconstitutional, and the result was that the law was not enacted. "There are certain conditions in your bill that were included in the state bill," said Mr. Donahue.

"We have made all reasonable efforts," said Mr. Donahue, "and find no company will insure jitneys, and that means that the Jitney owners will have to go out of business. One of the conditions of the ordinance is that a jitney cannot stop within 25 feet of a white pole, and that is unfair. What benefit is there in this section except to our corporation? What is there to prevent this company from painting every one of its poles white and prevent the Jitney business? The integrity Jitneys are not under your control, for all the drivers have to do is to collect fares after leaving the city."

"I think all of you men want to be fair in this matter. The public is the only one to benefit by the Jitneys in having better service. If you men want to make these regulations let them apply to the Bay State as well as the Jitneys and limit the number of passengers on each car."

The mayor said this cannot be done because the Bay State comes under the public service commission.

Mr. Donahue then shifted over to the Pawtucket bridge matter and said if he were a member of the council he would have the city solicitor seize the land of the Locks & Canals Co.

Jitney Ordinance Amended

Mayor Murphy said the council has agreed to delay the enforcing of the ordinance until Sept. 1.

It was unanimously voted to amend the ordinance so that it will go into effect Sept. 1 instead of Aug. 1, and that the license fee be $1 instead of $5.

Wants Swain Present

W. T. & Bartlett asked the council to invite Prof. George F. Swain to attend the hearing given the Locks & Canals Co. The mayor said it would cost money to have Mr. Swain here, and Mr. Bartlett said Mr. Swain should be brought here at any price.

Mayor Murphy said he did not believe the city should throw away money to have Prof. Swain here. Engineer Mills, Mr. Bartlett said he believes Mr. Mills will try to prove that Mr. Swain's report is wrong. The mayor said Mr. Swain has already been paid $550 for his report and he does not believe in giving him any more money. The meeting adjourned at 11:45 until Tuesday morning.

BECKER PUT TO DEATH

a minute elapsed before the electrode was applied to the right leg, a slit having previously been cut in the trousers from the knee down. After the electrode had been firmly adjusted against a shaven spot on the back of the condemned man's head the state executioner looked at Deputy Warden Johnson who surveyed the figure that was still mumbling the death prayer in the chair. Johnson half turned his head and the executioner jammed the switch.

First Shock Lasted Minute

The first shock lasted a full minute and the executioner said that it was 150 volts and it amped in strength. It came while Becker was still commending his soul to his maker.

The two prison physicians stepped forward to examine the collapsed

figure that sat supported in the death chair by the thick black leather straps. The stethoscope was applied to the heart and Dr. Charles Farr, the prison physician, pressed his finger against an artery in the neck. There was still a feeble fluttering of the heart.

Dead After Three Shocks

The physician stepped back from the rubber mat and again the electric current pulsed through the body. The shock lasted seven seconds and the current was then turned off. After a hasty examination Dr. Farr asked that a third shock be given. This lasted five seconds. An examination that took several minutes followed. Three physicians among the witnesses then made an examination and Dr. Farr, at 5:35 o'clock, quietly announced: "I pronounce this man dead."

Dying Declaration

During the night Becker pencilled on a piece of paper what he captioned "my dying declaration." It was taken to the warden's office where two copies were typewritten, which Becker signed with his fountain pen in a bold hand. To Deputy Warden Johnson, who had charge of the execution, in place of Warden Thomas Mott Osborne, who does not believe in the death penalty, the one-time police lieutenant gave his fountain pen as a gift. "It is the last thing that I have to give away, and I want you to have it. I want you to give this statement to the newspapermen."

Tribute to Mrs. Becker

"Gentlemen: I stand before you in my full senses knowing that no power on earth can save me from the grave that is to receive me. In the face of that, in the teeth of those who condemned me and in the presence of my God and your God I proclaim my absolute innocence of the foul crime for which I must die. You are now about to witness my destruction by the state, which has organized to protect the lives of the innocent. My Almighty God pardon everyone who has contributed in any degree to my untimely death. And now, on the brink of my grave I declare to the world that I am proud to have been the husband of the purest, noblest woman that ever lived—Helen Becker. This acknowledgment is the only legacy I can leave her. I bid you a good bye. Father, I am ready to go. Amen." (Signed) "Charles Becker."

Sat Up All Night

After his wife had said farewell, shortly after midnight Becker maintained a casual conversation with Deputy Warden Johnson, who sat beside the "screen" in front of his cell. Sometimes he smoked cigars, after which he would let his head fall upon his hand and gaze reflectively at the concrete floor for minutes at a time. Dawn found him seated on the edge of his cot carefully pinning a photograph of his wife on his white shirt just over his heart. Then, as if he desired to have her all to himself Becker put on a thin black alpaca coat which he tightly buttoned. The photograph was sewn by the warden until the prison physician opened his coat as he sat in the death chair.

Becker was put to death by the state executioner, whose name is unknown to the public. This man succeeded State Electrician Davis and he said he would not take the job unless his name was kept secret. He lives in a little town up-state. He went about his work briskly.

Becker's executioner said that in his opinion the man had died instantly at the first contact.

Haynes Also Executed

An autopsy on the body of Becker was performed according to law immediately after the execution. After Becker's body had been removed from the electric chair, Samuel Haynes, a negro murderer, was brought into the execution room and electrocuted. One of Becker's last requests to Warden Osborne was that he be put to death before the negro Haynes.

A statement credited to Mrs. Becker was given out here shortly after her husband's death.

Mrs. Becker to Continue Fight

"I shall never rest," she was quoted as saying, "until I have exposed the methods which were used to convict my husband. Whether he was guilty or innocent, there was no justification for the means employed to convict him."

"I would rather lose all the other members of my family, as dear as they are to me, than lose Charles. No one can take his place. In all of the ten years of our married life I never had occasion once to regret that I was his wife."

"Charles was no angel. He made no pretense of being one. He was just an ordinary human being—and perhaps that is why I loved him so."

Unusual Resistance

"Dr. W. O. Stillman of Albany, who assisted in the autopsy, said that Becker showed unusual resistance to the electric fluid. After the autopsy, Dr. Stillman said:

"I noticed no unusual effects upon Becker's vital organs. The way he resisted the strong current was remarkable, showing him to be an unusually powerful man."

It was expected that Becker's body will be removed some time today to New York where funeral services will probably be held on Sunday.

FUNERAL ON MONDAY

NEW YORK, July 30.—Mrs. Helen Becker, according to her brother, John Lynch, was bearing up well today after the strain she underwent yesterday and last night. Mrs. Becker is resting at her home today and is not expected to see anyone except members of her family.

An undertaker was despatched today to assist in getting the body of Charles Becker. The funeral, it was announced, will take place Monday. A solemn high requiem mass will be said at the Church of St. Nicholas of Tolentine. Interment will be at Woodlawn cemetery.

WARDEN ALLEGES ASSAULT

OSSING, N. Y., July 30.—Patrick McDonald, agent of Superintendent of Prisons, was arrested here today on a charge of assault preferred by Warden Thomas M. Osborne of Sing Sing prison. The arrest took place just as McDonald was about to take a train for Albany. The alleged assault occurred at the railroad station about two hours after the Becker execution.

McDonald appeared at Sing Sing prison this morning with a demand from Superintendent of Prisons Richard Warden Osborne asking for all his written orders assigning convicts to various parts of the prison. It has been recently charged that convicts were permitted against the law, to enter the death house and sing songs for the amusement of the condemned.

The prison clerk gave the orders to McDonald who then went to the railroad station. Warden Osborne learned that the papers had been taken away and made the claim that they had been removed in an illegal manner, in as much as no copies had been made and that the procedure left the prison without records. Warden Osborne hurried up town and obtained a warrant and McDonald was taken to court and paroled upon his own recognizance until August 6. Warden Osborne took the papers back with him to Sing Sing prison.

BECKER ATTACKED GOVERNOR

OSSING, N. Y., July 30.—The last hope of Charles Becker died when he was told early in the evening that his wife had failed to move Gov. Whitman to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

Failing in her mission, she started here to break the news to her husband.

but it had reached him before she arrived. Becker, it was said, had not expected clemency.

Almost at the moment the news was received the prisoner gave out a letter he had written to Gov. Whitman, in which he attacked the executive for having, as he indicated, given to the newspapers statements which cast a "foul aspersion on my character" and for which he demanded retraction.

"I Am as Innocent as You"

In this letter the former police lieutenant again reiterated his innocence of the crime for which he has been twice convicted.

"To these charges and to all others, I answer," the letter read, "by repeating solemnly, on the brink of the world to which you are sending me before my time, what was my constant answer while in the world: I am innocent as Rosenthal or of having conspired, procured or aided his murder, or having any knowledge of that dreadful crime."

The alleged statements which Becker referred to as having been credited to the governor were that he had offered to plead guilty of murder in the second degree; that, quoting from Becker's letter, he "had offered to give testimony against several persons (whose names are undisclosed) of having shared with me in collecting money from law breakers;" that he had sent counsel to two men arrested for conspiracy in the Rosenthal murder, and "with a cruelly almost inconceivable, it is stated that my first wife died under circumstances warranting suspicion that I caused her death."

Death of First Wife

Becker explained the death of his first wife by declaring that she had died of "hasty consumption" and that no breath of suspicion had ever been raised against him in that connection. "Mark well, sir, these words of mine," the letter concluded, "when your power passes, then the truth of Rosenthal's murder will become known. But not while your nominees remain district attorneys and can hold the club over these persons."

"With the aid of judges who were misled into misconceiving the testimony offered in my trial and into mistaking it both to the jury and on appeal, you have proved yourself able to destroy my life."

"But, believe me, I will surrender without ransom. Not a cent nor the governor of this state, nor the district attorney, nor all of them combined, can destroy permanently the character of an innocent man."

The letter was mailed to Gov. Whitman last night. Becker had spent nearly the whole day in his cell preparing it.

Crime Cost Six Lives

Driven to the wall by the persecutions of Charles Becker, a police lieutenant, to whom almost unlimited powers had been given him by his superiors, Herman Rosenthal, a notorious gambler, decided early in July, 1912, to make a clean breast of the relations between police officials and lawbreakers in New York.

To this resolution, which he fully intended to carry out, although no one knew better than he the dangerous position in which it would place him, six lives can now be credited.

Rosenthal is dead. The four East Side "gunmen," namely: "Gyp the Blood," "Dago Frank," "Lefty Louie" and "Wholey" Lewis, who shot him down in front of the Metropolitan hotel early in the morning of July 16, 1912, are in their graves.

This morning Charles Becker, twice convicted of being the real instigator of the murder of Rosenthal, paid the penalty of his crime in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.

The death of Becker closes the last chapter in a sordid story which, for far reaching effects is unparalleled in the history of crime in New York city.

It shook the police department to its very foundations; it wrested the control of the city government from Tammany Hall; it elevated Charles S. Whitman to the governor's chair at Albany and made him a condition of official debauchery often hinted at but never before proved, and it left a string of convicted and disgraced men in its wake.

Out of one man's determination to avenge real or imaginary wrongs by "scalping" have come all these and many more things which for more than three years have focussed public attention on this remarkable case.

Chronology of the Becker Case

July 16, 1912—Rosenthal murdered in front of Hotel Metropolitan, New York.

July 17—Rock Rose surrendered and held for murder.

July 21—Bridge Weber arrested and held for murder.

July 22—Harry Vallon surrendered and held for murder. Whitman names four gunmen as actual killers.

July 23—Dago Frank arrested.

July 29—Becker and Harry Vallon turn state's evidence; accuse Lieutenant Charles Becker of instigating murder which they procured. Becker arrested.

Aug. 1—Wholey Lewis arrested.

Aug. 5—Becker formally pleads not guilty.

Sept. 14—Gyp the Blood and Lefty Louie arrested.

Oct. 24—Becker's trial begins.

Oct. 24—Becker found guilty of murder in third degree.

Oct. 30—Becker, sentenced to die during week of Dec. 8, 1912, put in Sing Sing death house.

Nov. 13—Four gunmen convicted of first degree murder.

Feb. 21, 1914—Becker's conviction set aside; new trial ordered.

April 11—Gunmen executed.

May 23—Becker again convicted.

March 24, 1915—Second appeal for Becker filed.

May 25—Becker's second conviction upheld.

May 26—Court of Appeals fixed the week beginning July 12th for the execution of Becker.

July 1—Becker granted reprieve of two weeks.

July 20—Becker sends statement to Gov. Whitman, who refuses to commute sentence.

July 23—Becker's attorneys appeal to supreme court.

July 28—Supreme Court Justice Ford refuses Becker a third trial.

July 30—Becker died in the electric chair at Sing Sing at 5:45 a. m.

DOUBLE ELECTROCUTION

EDDYVILLE, Ky., July 30.—For the third time in the history of Kentucky a double electrocution took place this morning at the Eddyville penitentiary.

The first to be executed was Turner Graham, Jr., 24, a white man convicted for the killing of R. J. McMurry, sheriff of Hardin county. The second was Will Lane, 25, a negro, convicted at Pineville, on a charge of killing his wife.

Becker was the first negro to be executed in Kentucky since the adoption of electrocution as a means of inflicting the death penalty.

CUT AUTO LICENSES

BOSTON, July 30.—A radical change in the present rules regulating the issue of operators' licenses to private automobile owners in this state will be made by the Massachusetts highway commission as a result of recent criticism, according to Chairman William D. Sohler, the commission.

Under the present system a private operator may secure a license to run an electric automobile and without further application the same license permits the holder to operate a high-powered gasoline car if he wishes.

That this system is wrong, and tends to increase the number of automobile accidents in the state is the opinion of men prominent in the various automobile associations of Massachusetts. It is said that while an operator may be competent to run an electric automobile, he may know nothing about the operation of a high-powered gasoline car, and that applicants for a license to operate a private car should specify the kind of car, and if they have operated an electric machine only, they should be restricted to this.

Refers to Judge Byram

The method of not restricting the operator of an electric automobile, but permitting him also to operate a gasoline car, was recently sharply criticized by Judge Byram of Attleboro in a sentence in the operation of a high-powered gasoline car, and that applicants for a license to operate a private car should specify the kind of car, and if they have operated an electric machine only, they should be restricted to this.

Rule Will Mean Exams

If the rule is changed the operator will then have to make a further application for a license to operate a gasoline car, and pass the customary examination for such cars.

President William H. Ames of the Massachusetts Automobile association declared that it is a grave mistake not to distinguish between an electric and gasoline automobile in granting a license to the operator of a private car.

"Because of the misunderstandings how to run an electric machine does not mean that he knows anything at all about the operation of a gasoline car," he said. "There is all the difference in the world between the two, and public safety demands that they be specified by the applicant for a license."

The license that is granted at present by the highway commission says: "An application for a license to operate an automobile will not be considered by the commissioners until the applicant has operated an automobile on the highways at least 100 miles." The applicant, however, is not obliged to specify the kind of machine he has operated.

COUNCIL WILL CHANGE JITNEY BUS ORDINANCE

Ordinance Will Take Effect Sept. 1 Instead of Aug. 1—License Fee Reduced—More Bridge Talk

The municipal council at an adjourned meeting this forenoon voted to give the Lewis & Clark bridge matter, the date of the hearing having been set for Aug. 16. Commissioner Morse was not in favor of granting the hearing on the grounds that this means more delay in the building of the proposed bridge and also that if the said bridge is not constructed this year

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES SHOT AT GOV. HARRIS

MAN WHO FIRED 16 SHOTS AT HIM DURING WAR NOW HIS FRIEND

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—The fact that he shot at Gov. Harris of Georgia, sixteen times and missed each time, may win for I. C. Wade of Cornelia, Ga., an appointment on the governor's staff, provided the governor can prevail upon the state legislature, now in session, to abolish the age limit of 60 years. Gov. Harris is a Confederate veteran. Mr. Wade served in the northern army. When the present governor was campaigning a year ago he met Mr. Wade at Cornelia, talk turned to the fighting at Moorefield, Va., in the sixties.

"Where were you on the morning of the second day's battle, when you fellows were making it so hot for us?" asked the Confederate veteran. "I was on outpost duty on the extreme end of the upper right wing and I thought every minute would be my last," replied Mr. Wade. "You don't mean it! Well tell me, did you see a man saddle a roan horse and ride off at top speed?"

"Did I see him? Why I shot at that man sixteen times and missed him every time."

"It's a good thing you missed," laughingly concluded Mr. Harris, "or I wouldn't be here. I'm the man you shot at."

A close friendship resulted from the meeting and culminated today in Gov. Harris announcing he would try to have the legislature change the age limit in Mr. Wade's favor.

BECKER DIED IN CHAIR WITH PRAYER ON LIPS

Former New York Police Lieutenant Paid Penalty for Instigating Murder of Rosenthal — He Retained Composure and Protested His Innocence to the Last

SING SING PRISON, Ossining, N. Y., July 30.—Charles Becker was put to death in the electric chair this morning for the killing of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler. The former New York police lieutenant retained his composure and protested his innocence to the last. He went to his death with a photograph of his wife pinned on his shirt over his heart. Three shocks were given before the prison physicians pronounced Becker dead at 5:55 o'clock.

Led Way to His Execution

Becker led the way to his own execution. The condemned man sat up all night on the edge of his cot, calmly talking to Deputy Warden Charles H. Johnson.

"I have got to face it," said Becker, "and I am going to meet it quietly and without trouble to anyone." The deputy warden led Becker about an hour before the time set for the execution and when the priests, Father W. E. Cashin, the prison priest, and Father Curry, of New York, came to administer the last rites they found the man who had instigated Herman Rosenthal's murder with his face resting on his hand gazing at the prison floor. The priests remained with him to the end.

Witnesses to Execution

It was shortly after 5 o'clock when the first of the witnesses of the execution began to assemble outside the prison walls. Quickly their names were checked off by Deputy Warden Johnson, who directed them to take their places at a gateway that led to the place of execution in a new

THE LATE CHARLES BECKER

Rosenthal. When the witnesses were Deputy Warden Johnson nodded to principal keeper, Fred

Dorner and they left the room through a small wooden door that led to the death cells beyond where Becker was praying with his spiritual advisers.

Becker's Last Message

Becker arose to his feet when he saw Johnson and took a crucifix from the hand of the prison priest. To Father Curry Becker gave his last message as he took his place at the head of the little file of men that marched to the room of death. Becker's message which he uttered to the priest was:

"I am not guilty by deed or conspiracy or in any other way of the death of Rosenthal. I am sacrificed to my friends. Bear this message to the world and my friends. Amen."

Walked to the Chair

The one-time police officer hesitated as he entered the execution room. It seemed to the witnesses as if he was startled that the death chair was so near at hand. He looked quickly at the double row of witnesses, glanced at the floor, swept with his eyes the whitened walls of the room and then suddenly, as if coming to himself, walked briskly over the rubber mat and seated himself in the electric chair. Behind Becker followed the prison priest chanting the prayer of death which was repeated by the condemned man.

Prays for Mercy

"Jesus, Mary, Joseph, have mercy on my soul," nervously spoke Becker as deputy wardens stepped forward and adjusted the electrodes. Hardly

ALLIES SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES IN DARDANELLES

Australian and Irish Detachments Almost Annihilated—Turks Led by Germans

BERLIN July 30, (by wireless to Lowell, N. Y.).—A despatch from the Associated Press, to the Overseas News agency says: "The American cruiser North Carolina returned recently to Greece from an extended trip in the war zone. An officer of the ship told an acquaintance that real losses of the allied armies in the Dardanelles surpassed everything heretofore reported. The Australian and Irish detachments were almost annihilated."

"The attempt to storm the rocky steep heights on the Asiatic side of the straits were termed by the officers as simple insanity. Turkish machine guns directed by German officers mowed down the storming ranks. The Turks led by German, fought with great fury. "Wounded English officers at Alexandria spoke with the highest admiration of their antagonists. One Australian regiment of 1000 men returned from a charge of strong. These were wounded. Their comrades were dead."

WARSAW IN THROES OF ABANDONMENT

LONDON, July 30, 12:02 p. m.—Warsaw, the third city of Russia and the east have been striving since October, is at last in the throes of abandonment.

Germans in overwhelming numbers are at the gates of the Polish capital and despatches both from the city itself and from Petrograd say that further resistance would be unwise.

Full Hourly Expected

Discouraged not only throughout France and Great Britain but in Russia itself, the fall of the city is expected hourly and the problem now is to move the Russian armies intact, threatened as they are from the south by the Austro-Germans and more seriously from the north where the German forces which have swept through

Poland are aiming at the railway from Warsaw to Petrograd. This latter menace, the British press admits, is imminent, and the hope in the allied countries now is not for the safety of Warsaw but for the continued cohesion of the Russian army.

The Warsaw postoffice already has been shifted to some point in the eastward the populace has been warned to remain calm and presumably for days Russian troops have been stripping the city of everything of military value.

Triumphant Entrance

German aviators are hovering over the city and according to German advices, plans have been completed for the triumphant entrance of the German forces which have swept through

QUINCY COPS WON GAME

Lowell Made Bold Start But Were Weak at Finish in Game at Spalding Park

One beautiful feature of all police ball games is the fact that no matter how late you start to see them, you'll always be in ample time to witness the entire game, for regardless of how tardy you may be, the cops are always more tardy at getting started.

Today's game with Quincy was scheduled for 11 o'clock but at that hour there was but one lone figure on the field. Officer Fanning, of the Lowell team, who was practicing batting having given a fine exhibition of fanning without the capital F, at the recent Lawrence game.

Patrolman Arthur Drewett appears on the scene with a huge grip and a speculator was wondering if he was selling something or about to don a uniform as up-to-date he had not appeared in the lineup.

Patrolman Kenney appeared without a uniform and as he is a valuable member of the team, a collection was taken up and finally a uniform was procured.

The Quincy visitors came to Lowell by auto and were only a little late.

Patrolman Jack Donovan introduced a novelty in the line of baseball attire, wearing an immaculate white necktie. Patrolman Drewett came upon the field arrayed in a Lowell N. E. uniform which he completely filled over to the wrinkles.

Just one hour—and then some—late the game was started.

Fanning the heavy hitting outfielder of the Quincy team, opened with a long fly to Kelly in left field. Canavan, left a victim to Maloney's curving ball, which hit Dan Lynch and died at first.

Jack Kelly opened for Lowell with a two bagger to left field. He scored a moment later. Sharkey hit across second for a single and groined in center field booted the ball and Kelly scored. Kenney hit to Riley who let the ball go through him and Sharkey scored. Lynch and Maloney singled and worked Lynch with a fly to Thome. Maloney stole third.

Lowell took a big hand as he went to bat and another as he returned at bat and were only a little late.

START STRIKES IN U. S. IMMEDIATE INCREASES AIMED AT GERMAN SPIES

GOMPERS REITERATES CHARGE THAT FOREIGN INFLUENCE HAD BEEN WORKING HERE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor today reiterated his charge that foreign influences had been working to make strikes in the United States and called upon the workingmen to unite and resist any such attempts. Mr. Gompers made public his correspondence with the Central Federated union of New York which made an inquiry regarding a statement attributed to Mr. Gompers that officers of international unions had received money to pull off strikes in Bridgeport and elsewhere in ammunition factories.

"I never mentioned international unions," wrote Mr. Gompers, "nor did I use the word 'German' nor did I mention Bridgeport, nor did I refer to ammunition factories. What I did say was that authentic information had come to me for the purpose of having strikes inaugurated among seamen and longshoremen engaged in handling American products and manning ships for European ports; that the corrupting influence was being conducted by agents of a foreign government and that I had no doubt the same agencies and influences were at work elsewhere with the same purpose in view."

"We should all enter a sympathetic protest and shown down upon any foreign interference. "That the effort has been made to corrupt some of our men for such purpose is true, but that the strikes have been inaugurated is untrue. And it is untrue because the men who have given time and service to the workers of our country have interposed in time."

BOUQUET FOR WARREN

Warren Rhoton, scaler of weights and measures is in receipt of the following letter from Commissioner Thure Hanson:

"I would most cordially thank you for the assistance rendered me at the conference of weights and measures officials and others, which was held in your city last Wednesday. I assure you I appreciate the hospitality shown me and I wish to thank you personally and also in behalf of these present."

"Yours respectfully, "Thure Hanson."

NOTICES POSTED AT DAYONNE, N. J., PLANT OF TIDEWATER OIL CO.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Notices of immediate increases of from 5 to 15 per cent in wages were posted today at the Dayonne, N. ### EXPULSION FROM ENGLAND

LONDON, July 30, 3:30 p. m.—The Rev. Gertrude von Peitzold, pastor of a Unitarian church in Birmingham, who is known in the United States, was expelled from England today by order of the British home office. She had lived here 15 years.

Some years ago Mrs. von Peitzold applied for naturalization, but went to America, where she stayed two years, and the application lapsed. When her application was renewed at the commencement of the war it was refused by the home office.

NEW BRITISH REGULATION RE-QUIRING PASSPORTS OR IDENTIFICATION PAPERS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Consul General Skinner at London today notified the state department of a new British regulation requiring masters and sailors on neutral ships visiting British ports to be provided with passports or identification papers and to present such papers for registry if remaining more than 24 hours in British waters.

The bureau of navigation of the department of commerce has been asked by the state department to work out some means of complying with the order without embarrassing American shipping. Until the order is in full force, temporary landing permits will be issued.

A large proportion of the crews of American ships are neither native nor naturalized Americans. It was explained that the order is aimed at German spies.

COTTON FOR RUSSIA

NEW YORK, July 30.—Samuel Glushank of Winona, Russia, official representative of the cotton manufacturers of that district, arrived here today. Mr. Glushank will confer with members of the cotton exchange and leading cotton exporters regarding a possible means of shipping large quantities of cotton direct to Russia without interference either by Germany or Great Britain. He also will tour the south for conferences with cotton dealers.

NEW RECRUITING POLICY PASSPORT FORGERIES

CANADIAN MILITARY AUTHORITIES MAKE CHANGES IN INCREASE ENLISTMENTS

OTTAWA, Ont., July 30.—A new policy respecting recruits it was announced today had been adopted by the Canadian military authorities. Hereafter men with physical defects will be rejected but will be accepted and sent to dental and surgical depots for treatment after which they will be trained and sent to Europe. Two inches have been taken off the size standard and men below size in chest measurement will be taken. The second having been entirely under ground and the third was entirely white. Just this caused the deformity of the plant, although it looks like a case in which nature herself had done a little grafting.

REPLY FROM GERMANY NOT EXPECTED BEFORE NEXT WEEK AT EARLIEST

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Reply from Germany to the American representations on forgeries of American passports is not expected before next week at the earliest. Officials here believe the Berlin foreign office will take time for some investigation. No specific treaty provision covers the case, but forgeries of passports are breaches of amity and courtesy between governments which seldom go unnoticed.

FOUND FREAK RADISH

Centerville Woman Brings a Rare Curiosity to The Sun Office—Natural Grafting

Mrs. James Adams of 10 Sawtelle place brought to The Sun office today quite a rare curiosity in a freak radish. The plant had the usual red bulb with one smaller growing on the point of the root and still another rather elongated connecting with the second, all three in a vertical line. The second having been entirely under ground and the third was entirely white. Just this caused the deformity of the plant, although it looks like a case in which nature herself had done a little grafting.

DR. MAHONEY NAMED

APPOINTED. HEALTH COMMISSIONER FOR CITY OF BOSTON BY MAYOR CURLEY

BOSTON, July 29.—Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, the present chairman of the health board, was last night appointed by Mayor Curley as commissioner under the new ordinance which provides for a single head and five deputies. The salary will be $7500.

In appointing Dr. Mahoney Mayor Curley said: "Having exhausted every means in my power to secure Dr. Richard H. Creel of the federal health service, and knowing Dr. Creel and others that the health service in Boston has no equal for efficiency in the country, it is but just to select for the new head one who helped to make Boston the healthiest city in the United States. He will have a free hand and full power, which is something that the head of the health department has not had during the 15 years that I have been connected with the government of the city. I made this same promise to Dr. Creel, but it appears nothing I could offer would influence his determination to remain in the federal service."

The mayor further stated that Dr. Mahoney was in entire ignorance of his appointment, a fact which was borne out later when a reporter called upon the doctor and presented him with the quill pen with which the mayor signed the appointment.

ELMER E. COLE DEAD

Prominent Billerica Citizen Died at Bethlehem Where He Went in Search of Health

Elmer E. Cole, proprietor of the Cole Grain Elevator at Billerica center, and one of the town's most prominent residents, passed away yesterday in Bethlehem, N. H., where he had gone on the advice of physicians in an effort to improve his health. The body will be removed to his home in Billerica today.

Mr. Cole purchased the grain elevator from the late W. C. Phillips and during the past few years greatly increased the business of the plant. Although he never was a candidate for any public office he was prominent in town affairs and at the time of his death was a member of the finance committee and of the new fire station committee. He was a member of Thomas Talbot Lodge, A. F. of A. M. Deceased is survived by a wife and daughter, Esther, who were with him at the time of his death.

The French Maid Says:

The Unpopular Blase Girl
"Are not some girls screams?" laughed Marjorie as she burst in upon Marie. "I just met an acquaintance who used to be so nice and sweet, but she is now so very affected and blase that I do not enjoy her company bit."

"It is a pity," agreed Marie. "I think there is no asset a girl may possess that can compare with a sweet, natural and unaffected manner. With it a homely girl can change herself into a most bewitching person, and an attractive girl can make herself positively irresistible."

"But how comparatively few of these bewitching and irresistible beings are to be discovered at the present moment. The young maidens seem to have gone maniacism mad. Their smiles, their walk, and their very gesture are affected. We are asked to admire a race of haughty beauties today. The attitude of the fashionable belle of the moment is that of splendid insolence."

"But it is not a pretty whim or a lovable one. The trouble with the managements is that they leave indelible marks on them in many cases. For no other reason than this it is a good plan not to contract them at all. Don't delude yourself with the belief that an absurd and ludicrous grimace, flop attitude, spasmodic smile, and ultra-mannish clothes will bring you admiration."

"Look around in your own circle. Are not the really popular girls those in whose simple manners all the other girls find fault? You must admit they are."

"You are right, Marie," said Marjorie. "and you may be certain that I shall model the girl after the fashion of girls who are affected. I shall also be very careful of my own actions."

Milady's Boudoir

Beware of Youth Destroyers
Do you dissipate, mademoiselle and madame? If not, you are indeed a charming exception in these days of swiftly moving events. You do not stay out until late hours doing the tango? You do not drink a cocktail or a cigarette in the privacy of your boudoir? You do not drink a cocktail before dinner?

If you answer no, then this article is not for you. It is written especially for the women and girls who do these three mentioned things, and it is not a sermon on morals, but simply health and beauty.

Cigarette smoking robs your lungs of their natural oxygen, dulls the luster of your eyes and gives the fingers, which should be the hands of a goddess, a yellowish tinge which no self-respecting woman would care to own. Do you now believe it is worth it?

To be sure, it is quite all right, so far as the dancing goes, but late hours rob you of your beauty as surely as night follows the day. If you must dance and, mind you, it is not injurious to your health, try to moderate your hours and get your beauty restoring sleep with your wine, drink a glass of milk.

Drinking alcoholic liquors saps your health and beauty, and makes you an old woman before your time. The cocktail habit is fattening and also causes cramps. A woman's face can never be lovely if it is in a state of acid and ridges.

Beware of the three beauty and youth destroyers: cocktails, dances and late hours.

Little Ones Learn of Nature's "Sun-Swept Spaces"—Country Week Funds are Low

Pale flowers are you? Do you have the clamor of the city streets you hear? Not the rich silence of the April glades? The sun-swept spaces which the good God made? You do not know white mornings keen and clear? Are not your portions through the calendar year? O little flowers that blossom but to fade!

who have been giving for years, but we do not have as many new contributors as the work deserves. We have three places in North Chelmsford, one in Tynesboro and one in Pelham. For children over 12 years of age we pay $1 a week and $3.50 a week for children under 12. Most of our little visitors remain one week but if the child is very frail and requires extra attention the visiting period is extended to two weeks. While Country Week was in progress intended for the children we also assist a number of old folks and almshouse people who have been given the benefit of a vacation in the country, who could not have enjoyed it but for the aid that the Country Week fund gives. The money subscribed is always expended wisely and spent, but what the committee urgently needs just now is more of it.

Sleeping in Tents

Tents are provided for the children to sleep in and Mrs. Sturtevant says it is a great innovation to them. A great many of the children, she says, do not take kindly to the food because, as one of them said, "It is not like what we have at home." Mrs. Sturtevant relates an amusing incident of a little girl who refused to go to the tent fresh from the garden. She said she liked peas that "come in cans."

Another little girl for several days refused to eat custard, but after tasting and eating some of it she became the banner custard eater of the house. "If the people could see the children and see how they are cared for," said Mrs. Sturtevant, "I am sure they would give freely to Country Week fund."

Owing to industrial and other conditions there are more applications than ever before, and although Mrs. Sturtevant and others associated with her try to help in the work, they have not been able thus far to cope with all the applications from deserving sources. Kind nature, however, has gone her part in helping to relieve the suffering caused by mid-summer heat in the city by giving, thus far, a comparatively cool season.

But to return to the question of contributions to the Country Week fund, it is hoped that those who have not already contributed will send in their contributions to the treasurer, John A. Hunnewell, 20-31 Market St., and it will do no harm to suggest that there is no law in this case against repeaters, so that any one who feels able to add to a previous contribution is hereby encouraged to do so.

WHO CAUSED THE WAR?

Editor Sun:
Will you please state to decide an argument what power started the war directly and what power or powers were indirectly responsible for causing this the worst war in all history? By so doing you will greatly oblige Yours truly,
G. F. M.

It would be utterly useless for us to attempt to answer this general question with the hope of convincing anybody inasmuch as scarcely any two persons agree as to where the real responsibility for this war is to be placed. In reference to the origin of the war, however, some very peculiar reasoning has been advanced. Some, yes we might say a vast number, mainly pro-German in their sympathies, assert that England caused the war although with the exception of Japan and Italy she was last to declare war against Germany. Arguing on that principle to wit, that the last power to enter the conflict is responsible for starting it, then Italy and not England caused the war, she being the power last to enter. But this reasoning is not ours and we present it only to show the absurdity of some of the arguments advanced in the controversy. On the other hand no just or fair conclusion can be drawn as to the responsibility for the war by pointing to the parties who actually started it. We shall have to look at the jealousies and the rivalries that sprang up among the leading European powers long before the war started. Her victory over France in 1871 led Germany to assume a great deal of importance and gave her apparently an ambition for other European conquests. France recovered from her defeat and the loss of Alsace and Lorraine; but she never forgot the defeat administered by the Germans, nor ever abandoned the hope that some day she would be in a position to retrieve what she had lost. Still she never showed any disposition to precipitate a war, her only aim being to be able to defend her possessions should war come. Once Germany had recovered from the effects of the war, she began to prepare for future conquests. She feared a union between France and England and finally, suddenly she began to build up a great war machine intended to smash both. All her inventive genius and her military prowess was turned to training for the next war. From year to year this training, this preparation went on and each year showed a distinct advance in all the military necessities for entering upon a great war. At length Germany, conscious of her great power, became restive and diplomatically curt, saucy and domineering towards some of the other European powers. She began to look towards Asia and for this purpose became quite friendly with Turkey. To fortify herself in case of a European war, she formed an alliance with Austria and Italy while she was cultivating a friendly understanding with Turkey and had German captains training the Ottomans in military science.

The formation of the triple alliance led Russia to look around for allies in case of trouble, for to Russia the preparation being made by Germany and her alliance for military purposes with two important powers, became quite alarming. This brought into being the triple entente or the understanding between Russia, France and England for their common defense, and not for the purpose of aggression.

Here then we have the line-up, as it were, for the war, although neither France nor England nor for that matter Russia had any idea that a war involving the leading powers of Europe was even a remote possibility.

This was particularly noticeable in England which had wasted nearly two years fooling with the Irish home rule question that could have been settled in thirty days, and with the suffragette agitation that had practically created a reign of terror in the empire. In India too, there was a feeling of discontent and a prospect of trouble. Sir Edward Carson went to Berlin for rifles and equipment for his volunteers and was obviously impressed by the supposed determination of the Orange leader, Mr. Carson got what he wanted and he left the German emperor convinced that a rebellion of large proportions was threatened in Ireland—something that would tie England's hands in case of war. Here was the opportunity for Germany to extend her domain by conquest while England had trouble at home, and all that was needed was a casus belli—some plausible pretext for the declaration of war. The German emperor was anxiously scanning the horizon of Europe for anything that might be converted into a war cloud when the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria furnished the desired pretext.

On July 28, 1914, the Austro-Hungarian government, the ally of Germany, sent to Serbia an ultimatum of the most arbitrary nature demanding that all the persons connected in any way with the assassination should be punished and that the anti-Austrian propaganda in that country should be suppressed at once. Forty-eight hours were given for consideration of the demands which were granted within the time, with the exception of that which would give the Austrian officials a leading part in the punishment of the murderers. The Serbs asked for further information on this point. The reply was not satisfactory and Austria promptly declared war on Serbia and began moving troops over the border. The day after Austria declared war on Serbia, Russia notified the German ambassador, mind you, not the Austrian ambassador, that if Austria invaded Serbia, she, Russia, could not remain neutral. Here Germany was recognized as the dictator in the war against Serbia.

Great Britain proposed that a council should be arranged to mediate between the two disputants. Germany declined to become a party to any such arrangement. The czar appealed to the kaiser to use his influence with the Austrian emperor in behalf of a peaceful settlement of the difficulties. According to the German account, it was claimed the kaiser did this to the best of his ability but none of the opposing powers believe this statement. Next came a report that the troops of Russia were mobilizing whereupon the kaiser wired the czar to stop, that his course had made mediation impossible. Two days later the German emperor announced that the safety of the empire compelled him to prepare for national defense and he sent a twenty-four hour ultimatum to Russia, although the czar had made no threat on Germany. War being on between Germany and Russia, the German ambassador sounded France in reference to the war and being informed that France would protect her own interests war was immediately declared against France.

On August 2 Germany marched an army through the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg whose neutrality had been guaranteed by Germany in 1867. The following day Germany sent a note to the Belgian government demanding passage of her troops through the country to attack France, and to make way as appeared later towards the English channel.

Belgium got twelve hours to reply. She pluckily refused and then the war was on between her and Germany. At this violation of Belgian neutrality which had been jointly guaranteed by England and Germany, England felt that she could not honorably allow Germany to override a treaty in that manner and after due deliberation she declared war with Germany on August 4th. Then followed declarations of war by the allies against Austria-Hungary, and by Japan against Germany, and finally by Italy against Austria.

Thus the powers got into the seething cauldron of war. Perhaps the question we have tried to elucidate is quite as involved as ever; but in all these matters it appears that Germany gathered a number of allies and then undertook to go to war with any power threatening any of them with harm. Russia had done nothing to hurt Germany when the latter declared war against her, and so it was with France and Belgium. Germany evidently thought England could not afford to enter the war and she felt that Italy would be with her. Italy, however, backed down and in order to recover territory from Austria joined the allies.

The charge was made that Germany was forced into the war by alleged commercial discrimination by England but for this charge there is not the slightest foundation as for years previous to the war England was so flooded with German goods that her factories were idle. England extended to Germany the privileges of free trade, but Germany had a protective tariff against imports from the British empire. Did that look like unfair treatment by England?

Perhaps the whole terrible affair of the beginning of this world war could be made plainer by a pseudosimilitude. Big Joe got mad with the little chap Serby and proceeded to give him an awful lambasting when Alexander seeing the cowardice and the cruelty of the scrap said: "Here Joe you mustn't do that." Up steps Willie, the champion of the world, and says, "this fight must be allowed to go on and I will punch anybody who interferes." Alex didn't seem a bit scared whenupon William challenged him and his two friends Frank and John offering to fight the whole bunch. So they all jumped in and the free fight was on. Little Serby got off easy, but another plucky little fellow named Belge got mixed with the giants and was almost crushed to death. The scrap is still on and Will seems able to knock 'em down as fast as they get to him.

That is how it started and what interests us most now is how it is all going to end.

THE B. & M. SITUATION

The proposition of certain employees of the Boston & Maine railroad to precipitate a great strike in the mechanical departments is actually cruel in view of the very uncertain condition of the company from a financial standpoint.

The present management is making a very plucky fight against almost insuperable difficulties and if given a fair chance, it may be able to avoid bankruptcy and place the road on a basis that will guarantee better service to the public.

Speaking of the finances of the road, the Boston Advertiser says:

"It is well enough known that some $17,000,000 of notes must be met on September 2. If the road is not to go into the hands of a receiver, but few know of the plucky and really wonderful policy by which the road has been operated safely to date, under handicaps that cannot be overcome easily or borne very much longer, with safety to the public."

It is plain that a strike of any extent would add to these handicaps and perhaps precipitate a crisis that would result in closing down the plants. The company is without money and without credit to obtain money so that any labor trouble coming at this time in addition to the great financial embarrassments may send the road into the hands of a receiver.

The train service has been mercilessly cut and men who had long experience as engineers and conductors have been held as firemen and brakemen or in other inferior positions. These men are of great value in preventing accidents that would naturally result from the neglected conditions of the roadbeds, bridges and rolling stock if comparatively green men were in these positions. The slump in the stock of the Boston & Maine must naturally affect savings banks and fraternal insurance orders which invested largely in the company's securities.

The proposition to force the railroad to pay any large increase in wages, it would seem, would be on a par with that of getting blood from a stone. Even the labor men, one would imagine, should have some consideration for a railroad under such unfortunate conditions.

Not until its financial difficulties are readjusted can the road proceed to make the necessary repairs and services to meet the demands on the service. The stockholders after a period of patient waiting may again receive dividends and when the road is financially rehabilitated it may be able to pay better wages to its mechanics and other employees.

HOT WEATHER BAD FOR WOMEN'S NERVES

Season When They Most Need Their Strength to Withstand the Heat

Hot weather has a decidedly weakening effect on most women. They become too languid to exercise, and as a result have appetite only for light, tasty foods, like salads and other cold concoctions, which do not digest readily and increase the natural tendency to constipation.

At this season women should maintain the highest possible standard of health, to counteract the enervating effect of the weather. Good digestion and regularity of the bowels are essential. The combination of simple laxative herbs with peppin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a laxative and digestive, and by many physicians, as well as by thousands of women who depend upon it as a remedy for many of their ailments to which women seem more especially susceptible.

Get a fifty cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it in the house. Take

LIFE SAVED AFTER OPERATION FAILED

Mrs. Clare Shaw of Providence Used Wonderful Remedy

Mrs. Clare Shaw of 493 Dexter St., Providence, R. I., was a sufferer from stomach and liver troubles for many years. She was treated both in the United States and abroad. She underwent an operation. Still she suffered. Then she took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and found swift relief. In a letter telling of her case she said:

"I received your sample treatment the day before Christmas and it saved my life, for I was almost gone. I had an inflammation that got right up in my throat and seemed to choke me. My neighbors say it is a miracle, as they knew how I suffered. I am better now than I have been for 20 years."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

dignity of the courts and the majesty of the law. Had he granted a new trial the courts of New York would have been a byword and a reproach throughout the country. Everybody who has watched the case must realize that Becker got only his deserts in following the four gun men to the electric chair. The scandalous proceedings in the Thaw case reflected upon the courts of New York but now apparently not only the courts but the people are recovering from a state of mind in which they were willing to grant immunity to murderers, and to allow the course of justice to be defeated by the corrupt use of money.

CORN-FED BASS

It was only an inoffensive looking black bass with nothing in particular to commend it to the pages of scaly history. It was landed by a cottager in the vicinity of Lake Winnepesaukee, it weighed about six pounds, to be sure, but it did not distinguish itself until it was being prepared for that seventh heaven of fish bliss—the pan. Then, however, the atmosphere began to change, and no wonder, according to the story, for what was found in its little insides but—a whole ear of green corn!

THE WAYS OF WOMEN

When it comes to verbal sparring we have to hand the palm to women. Listen to this about a woman who had divorced her husband:

"I knew that woman wanted to know my complete history," she says, "but I guess she'll have to try again. She made the usual casting for information and I told her all about myself

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

A correspondent who signs himself a "regular reader" of the Quarter of a Century column has written me to express his appreciation of the article that has appeared herein on the good old days of canoeing and boat racing on the Merrimack river, and to deplore the decadence of those health-

giving and interesting aquatic sports, for which Lowell had such picturesque and adequate facilities. Turning from his letter to the Sun of quarter of a century ago I find the following: "The canoes of the Vesper Boat club of this city were shipped to the 10th annual meet of the American Canoe association at Jessup's Neck, Peconic bay, L. I. and the members of the club left for that point on Wednesday evening. The spot is twelve miles from Sag Harbor and Green point. The officers of the Eastern division are Dr. J. A. Gage, of Lowell, vice commodore; A. S. Putnam, Worcester; rear; Ralph S. Brazier, Lowell, purser; E. E. Knapp, Springfield, member of the executive committee. Mr. Davis S. Goddard of Lowell is a member of the regatta committee. A beautiful cup, the regatta trophy, is the principal prize and among the contestants entered therefrom are Messrs. Butler, Gray, Gage and Goddard of this city. Last year in the race for the Peconic cup, Dr. J. A. Gage was the victor and should be again be the winner the cup becomes his property. Among his competitors on the present occasion are those expert canoeists, Whitlock, Goddard, Quick, Knapp, Butler, Masten, Douglas, Vaux, Palmer and Schellert. The delegation from Lowell consists of Vice Commodore J. Arthur Gage, Purser R. F. Brazier, David S. Goddard, Howard Gray and Mrs. Gray, Dr. E. F. Lamson, John Rolfe, Win Tyler and Paul Butler."

But not only have the canoe racers disappeared from the river, but the dainty little pleasure craft is seldom seen.

One of the last articles written by the late John Boyle O'Reilly, just before his death, quarter of a century ago, was on the advantages of the canoe as a pleasure boat for exploring rivers and lakes and reaching some of the most romantic haunts of nature. Editor Gallagher commented editorially upon the article, in part as follows: "In opening he (O'Reilly) contrasts the merits of the canoe and row-boat and stigmatizes the latter as a relic of barbarism. Speaking of the recent development of the canoe, he says: 'Nothing can be more rapidly going on. Within ten years the improvement in building, sailing and handling canoes has been one of the most striking of progressions. Canoe sailing is the sport of the most fertile, brilliant and audacious boatmen that ever set a sheet. It is another illustration of the infinite variety of the genius of America. Unless you go in a canoe you can never see the beauty or the meaning of a river. Rowboats are only fit for tedious fatigue. Canoeing is a vile method of making a long voyage, with the face to the rear. To move one way and look another, is unnatural. It is the death of adventure, surprise and enjoyment. A row boat is one of the most uninteresting remnants of barbarism and ignorance that the world owns—for the whole world, savage and civilized, strangely preserves the monotonous creation. The open boat is a nuisance on a river, or near the shore, but on the deep sea, carried on the deck of a crowded ship and called a 'life-saver,' it is an embodiment of terror and destroyer."

Mr. O'Reilly further continues the editorial, says a properly built canoe has air-tight tanks fore and aft sufficient to float her when she is capsized. A canoe is a real life-boat while the open boat is a real death boat. "Boats, like men, should have two

I intended her to know. Then she wanted to know what kind of a widow I happen to be—grass or weeds—but wasn't quite so direct as that. So she asked me when my husband died. "Oh, he passed out about five years ago," I replied, "and I think she set me down for the sad kind."—Brooklyn Enterprise

ABSENCE OF MIND

Talk about a Harvard student going to Boston and then returning to find out what he went for—something like which is related out Cambridge way in certain circles—this man seems to have such a feat better several ways. He was a Worcester business man, and he went to his office by automobile. He parked the machine, and then comes in one of the most amusing manifestations of absence of mind on record. He proceeded to forget all about the automobile, and travelled by trolley during the day. Returning home at night, he went to the garage and then—then—it dawned upon him that he had left the car down town.—Boston Advertiser

Speaking of the absent-minded folk, we have a few right here at home. One, for instance, who passes the elevator boy a nickel and tells him to let him off at such and such a street, and another who puts a "will return in 20 minutes" sign on his office door and then sits down to await his own return.

MILLIONS OF RABBITS

In this day and time when the high price of meat has added so materially to the high cost of living, there has developed a new source of meat supply in New Mexico that is no doubt causing the big packing concerns of this country considerable worry.

The rabbit crop of eastern New Mexico this year is one of the best on record and the rabbit harvest is now in full swing all over that portion of the state.

One writer estimates that fully 1,000,000 rabbits will be marketed from Curry county alone.

Cottontail rabbits minus the trimmings weigh a little more than one pound each. This means 25 carloads of rabbits—averaging 50,000 pounds to the car and an average of two cars per week during the shipping season. The sale of the 1,000,000 rabbits in Curry county, and shows that the New Mexico rabbit crop is something not to be sneezed at.—Exchange

I REMEMBER! I REMEMBER!

I remember, I remember, The house where I was born; The little window where the sun Came peeping in at morn. You'd hardly know the old place now. For dad is up to date, And the farm is scientific, And from the back lot to the gate

The house and barn and lighted With bright acetylene, The engine in the laundry Is run by gasoline. We have silos, we have autos, We have dynamos and things, A telephone for gossip, And a phonograph that sings.

The hired man has left us, We miss his sunny face; A lot of college graduates Are working in his place. There's an engineer and fireman, A chauffeur and a vet., A lecturer and a mechanic— Oh, the farm's run right, you bet.

The little window where the sun Came peeping in at morn, Now brightens up a bathroom That cost a car of corn. Our milkmaid is pneumatic And she's scientific, too; But dad gets fifteen cents a quart For milk that once brought two.

Our cattle came from Jersey, And the hogs are all Duroc; The sheep are Southdown beauties And the hens are Plymouth Rock. To have the best of everything— That is our aim and plan— For dad not only farms it, But he's a business man.—Canadian Courier.

body who reads his article will have any doubt as to the great pleasure of floating slowly down a majestic river enjoying the panoramic views of natural scenery on every side. He shows how easily a canoeist can vary his amusement by hunting and fishing and leaves no doubt that canoeing is the most expensive, the most pleasant, the most healthful and instructive kind of outdoor exercise. ## KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

GENOA CAMP IN TYNGSBORO SCENE OF GREAT ACTIVITY YESTERDAY
—GIRLS PLAY BALL

The annual basket picnic for the members and friends of the Knights of Columbus held at the Genoa camp, Tyngsboro, yesterday, proved very enjoyable and more than 2500 people visited the grounds during the day.

During the afternoon a long list of sports was carried out, and baseball games between two girls' teams and teams composed of married and single men were played. John Buckley and Rev. W. George Mullin, chaplain of the Knights of Columbus council, were the umpires, and although they were roasted at times by the players, their work proved entirely satisfactory to the large crowd that watched the contests.

Following the sporting events, refreshments were served in the clubhouse, with a number of hustling members as waiters, headed by Sergt. Hugh Maguire. The Middlesex County Training school band gave a highly enjoyable concert in the clubhouse. In the evening dancing to the pleasing strains of Buckley's orchestra was enjoyed. The committee in charge of the successful affair was as follows:

J. F. Deane, G. K. chairman; R. R. Thomas, Hugh Maguire and Walter Hickey. The sports committee, which provided valuable prizes in each event, was composed of Andrew Molloy, chairman; R. Stattery, Jr., C. E. McCarthy, Jr., John Golden and Edward Brennan.

The lineups of the ball teams and winners of the various sporting events were as follows:

Married men: Monahan c, Sullivan p, Molloy 1b, O'Brien 2b, Fitzgerald 3b, McCarty 4b, Thomas and Mower 1b, Coughlin cf, McNeely rf.

Single men: Hart and McCarthy p, Stattery 1b, McCullough 2b, Sullivan ss, Harrington 3b, Wood 4b, Smith cf, McCarthy rf.

The men gave way to the girls on the diamond. Miss McCarty's Belvidere team defeated a picked-up team 7 to 3. Vera Duffy pitched for the Belvideres and she had everything. The lineups for the four-lining game were:

Belvideres: Nellie Thomas c, K. McCarty 1b, Vera Duffy p, Louise Cull 2b, Evelyn Barrows ss, B. Walsh 3b, E. McCarty cf, G. Grady cf, M. Sharkey lf.

"The Enemy"—B. Bernard c, H. Webster p, A. Scannell 2b, S. Maloney 1b, G. Hall 3b, M. Linton ss, M. Martin cf, M. Concanon rf, M. Flanagan lf.

Stella Maloney was first in a field of 100 starters in the 100-yard dash. She won a gold brooch pin. Mary Linton was second and won a gold hatpin.

Ball throwing contest, for girls: First, Vera Duffy, set of sterling silver buttons; second, Nellie Thomas, set of pearl beads.

INDUSTRIAL and STORE NEWS

The Electrical Workers' union and Bricklayers' union, are scheduled to hold meetings tonight.

Edward Landers of the Federal Shoe company, will spend a week enjoying the sights in New York during September.

The annual outing of the finishing department of the Lawrence Manufacturing company, will be held at Revere beach tomorrow.

Edward Brennan, the popular National biscuit salesman, will be found registered at Hampton beach during the second and third weeks of August.

Walter McEvoy of the Bon Marche company, and Richard Costello of a local automobile concern, will spend the first two weeks of August at Hampton beach.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers' union who is conducting an organizing campaign in Springfield this week is expected home tomorrow night.

Michael Wrenn, special officer at the United States Cartridge company, will complete in the sporting events at the picnic to be conducted by St. John's parish, North Chelmsford at Nabnassel grove tomorrow.

Phil McNeely of Centralville is becoming more than prominent in local golf circles as a result of his classy exhibitions on the links during the past two weeks, and not many of the local cracks are over desirous of arranging a match with him.

Bill Marcotte, formerly third baseman for the Lawrence Manufacturing company baseball team is being sought after by the management of the Kimball system aggregation.

Marcotte is one of the best infielders in local amateur circles but lacks ability with the war club.

Overseer Walmesley of the weaving department of the Massachusetts mill will accompany the Lawrence Manufacturing company team to Manchester tomorrow afternoon where the local team will line up against the All Stars who is said to be one of the fastest aggregations in New Hampshire.

President Frank Warnock of the Trades and Labor council and Organization of the Boot and Shoe Workers, will look in the double-header at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon. Mr. Warnock, who is an old admirer of Hugh Duffy, and who is delighted in telling of the games at the old River street grounds, enjoyed the double bill immensely, as did Whelan who is an ardent follower of the local team now that it has hit its proper stride.

Bakers' Open Meeting

Trades and Labor hall in Middle street was taxed to capacity last evening when an open meeting and general assembly of the bakers of the city was held by the labor forward organizing committee for the purpose of organizing the workers into a union. Frank Warnock, president of the Trades and Labor council, was in the chair and called the session to order promptly at 8 o'clock.

Due to urgent business of the local team, Jack Zarford of Chicago who was to be the principal speaker at the meeting was unable to be present. Those who addressed the gathering were: Daniel E. Whalen, organizer for the Boot and Shoe Workers' union, who spoke on the union label; President Frank Warnock of the Trades and Labor council, and Timothy Roiske, past president of the Trades and Labor council. Following the speaking a well arranged musical program was carried out and refreshments were served. A number of applications for membership in the new union were received and it was decided to hold further meetings on Saturday nights commencing August 7.

Painters' Union

The regular weekly meeting of the painters' union was held last night in Carpenters' hall. Bunches building with a large attendance. A list of routine business was transacted and a few new members were admitted. The business agent's report showed the members of the organization to be steadily employed and the secretary reported the financial condition of the union to be in excellent standing.

Billerica Blacksmiths

Local 319, Billerica Blacksmiths' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, held a meeting last night in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, at which it was voted to turn out in the Labor day parade. President Frank Warnock of the Trades and Labor council, chief marshal of the Labor day parade, gave a stirring address on organization and he also outlined the plans for the coming pageant. The local appointed J. A. Sargent and Geo. A. MacGillough to the Federation of Crafts. The third member already in office is E. A. Farnsworth.

Billerica Blacksmiths

A very interesting meeting of the Billerica Blacksmiths' union was also held in Odd Fellows building last night at which several matters of importance were discussed. It was voted unanimously to turn out in the Labor day parade. Two new members were initiated and several applications for membership were referred to the investigating committee.

Carpenters' District Council

Representatives of the three local unions of carpenters were in attendance at the regular weekly meeting of the Carpenters district council held last evening in the Runcles building. Considerable business of importance was transacted. William H. Walsh of Brookline, president of the state council was present to deliver the support of the state branch in a campaign now being carried on for the purpose of unifying all shops in this city. General Organizer William Shields of Worcester and Business Agent Michael A. Lee of this city, who are looking after the arrangements of the campaign submitted progressive reports.

DR. NACHMAN HELLER

GUEST OF RABBI WOLFSON WILL DELIVER ADDRESSES TOMORROW AT LOCAL SYNAGOGUES

Dr. Nachman Heller, widely known as a scholar, journalist, Zionist and linguist, is a visitor in this city, the guest of Rabbi E. Wolfson, 116 Howard street, and will give a series of addresses at both the Montefiore society, Howard street, and Congregation of Jacob, McIntyre street, delivering his lectures at the latter tomorrow, Saturday, at 9 o'clock in the morning, the course of the regular Sabbath services, and at the Montefiore synagogue on Saturday afternoon, during vesper meeting, at 4 o'clock, and again on Sunday, Aug. 1st, at 6 p. m. The Shema, constituting, as it will, part and parcel of the day's chanting from the scroll of the Shema, the visiting rabbi will use certain passages thereof as topics and subjects for his discourses. The war and its atrocities will likewise turn tabular for the rabbi's lectures and orations. In connection with the previously mentioned discussion.

The rabbi is widely known as a journalist, author and a man of letters, his publications, investigations and fiction giving columns and pages of newspapers and periodicals of all shades and tendencies. While in the bookish world, he recently published the scriptures, books of Daniel and Ezra, the Aramaic text of the canon and his own translations of English, Yiddish and Hebrew, the latter tongue is but the ingenious invention of the scholarly rabbi, the two mentioned books never having any Hebrew, for ostensible reasons, the Chaldean turning the expedient substitute.

Dr. Heller has traveled extensively

TEST ON CITIZEN ACT

HAVERHILL, July 30.—So far nothing has been done in Haverhill towards complying with the law requiring cities and towns to employ only citizens of the commonwealth as mechanics or laborers on public works.

The attention of Mayor Bartlett was called this morning to the bill of equity brought by taxpayers of Lynn against the commissioner of public works, commissioner of water works and commissioner of streets who announced recently that they intended to comply with section 21, chapter 51A of the acts of 1909 and chapter 600 of the acts of 1914 and discharge workmen in their departments who were not citizens of the state, and he said: "We shall go extremely slow in the enforcement of a law of that kind."

The full bench of the supreme court is expected to be called upon to pass upon the constitutionality of the law as a result of the petitioners' action as they declare the law deprives citizens of the nation of their rights and privileges.

When the law first went into effect Alderman Wood found that of the 170 men employed in the street department at that time only 77 were voters. But as the law does not refer to voters, as many of the employees might be citizens and still not take advantage of their right to vote, the investigation failed to determine anything.

The law would work the greatest hardship in the water department where many men of foreign birth are employed and who through lack of education are unable to become citizens. Still these same men are property owners and tax payers and Mayor Bartlett welcomes the effort on the part of the Lynn taxpayers to determine the constitutionality of the law.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Johnson and Miss Alice Gallagher took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Patrick's parochial residence, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Kerrigan.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Augusta Gallagher, while Mr. Henry Twomey, cousin of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The bride wore white crepe de chine with lace trimmings and carried bridal roses, while the bridesmaid was attired in yellow and carried yellow roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 18 Butterfield street, after which the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon trip. They will be at home to their friends after Sept. 1st.

BOARD OF TRADE

Annual Outing Held at
Canobie Lake Was
Best Ever

Nearly 200 members of the Lowell board of trade or to be exact, 170, attended the annual field day of the organization which was held at Canobie Lake park and it was a happy lot that returned to Lowell in the early evening, for the event proved to be one of the best in the history of the organization. The car ride both ways was ideal, the dinner excellent, and the sporting events very amusing.

The excursionists left Merrimack square in three special cars at 12:15 o'clock and arrived at the grove an hour later. Upon alighting from the cars it was learned that Gen. Graves who had charge of the dinner, was not quite ready to receive the visitors, and accordingly all repaired to the ball park, where a group photograph was taken.

The dinner bell then sounded and an exit from the park to the pavilion was in order. The men seated themselves around the festive board and partook of a course dinner, which they discussed with great appetite, much to the satisfaction of the chef.

It was then time to open the outdoor program and Arthur W. Saunders and Daniel W. Shaughan, who were in charge of the sporting events, announced the first number to be a pillow fight and the first two to mount the wooden horse were President Marden and Thomas J. O'Donnell.

Another feature of the afternoon was the golf contest, which consisted of driving the golf ball out of sight if possible. The winner of this event was Alanson Gray with H. Stanley Crisler, second and 10 or 15 others, third. The 100-yard dash for fat men was also very interesting. About a dozen men lifting the scale at 200 or more entered the contest and again D. A. Mackenzie proved the hero of the situation with Secretary Murphy a close second.

Last but not least on the program was the ball game between Pitts' Pets and Small's Midgets, the line-up of both teams being as follows:

Pitts: C. Feindel p., Crisler 1b, McCarthy and Marden 2b, Kimball 3b, Hill and Nyeberg cf., Alexander cf., Hunt lf.

Small: C. Donohoe p., Cogston 1b, Harvey 2b, Reynolds and Flaherty ss, Master 2b, Dearth cf., Sarre lf., O'Leary rf.

Arthur W. Saunders acted as umpire and at the close of the game when he announced the score was 12 to 12 in favor of Pitts' Pets, he was forced to seek shelter under the grandstand, for the members of the other team were equipped with pillows and meant to do him harm. The park police was called, however, and after a lengthy argument, during which the umpire signified his intention of changing his decision and giving each team 12-12, the hostilities were called off.

There was a prize for the tallest and shortest men and after each man in the party had been measured by a committee, F. M. Barney, who proved to be 5 feet, 3-1/2 inches in height was awarded the prize for the long and Fred A. Bates, agent of the board of health, who is just a foot and one inch shorter than Mr. Barney, received the prize for the short.

Most of those who took part in the various contests enjoyed a dip before leaving the park, and the homeward trip was started at 5:45 o'clock, all satisfied with their afternoon, and extending their felicitations to President Marden and Secretary Murphy for the success of the event.

JAPANESE CABINET QUILTS

TOKIO, July 30, 2:15 p. m.—The Japanese cabinet, headed by Count Okuma as premier, has tendered its resignation to Emperor Yoshihito. This action followed the resignation yesterday of Viscount Kanetake Okuma, minister of the interior, following an investigation by the ministry of justice into bribery charges resulting from the parliamentary elections last March. Viscount Okuma's resignation was sanctioned by the emperor after a report on the situation had been made to him by Count Okuma.

Premier Okuma, believing he should hold himself responsible for the acts of the members of his cabinet, was the first to tender his resignation. The other ministers immediately decided to follow the example of their chief.

After receiving Count Okuma, the emperor summoned the elder statesmen for a conference. A cabinet change at this time is unpopular with the public because of the war.

Two cases have been mentioned as responsible for the crisis. The first was the charge that 10,000 yen ($5000) had been offered Viscount Okuma by a candidate for the house as the price for keeping a rival candidate out of the field. The minister of the interior denied having accepted this but K. Hayashida, chief secretary of the lower house, who was arrested Wednesday, has been quoted as admitting having received the money and distributing it for campaign purposes.

The second case involves two representatives charged with accepting bribes to desert the Seiyukai, or conservative party and support the government in its campaign for an increase in the army.

The elder statesmen will meet tomorrow and it is considered probable they will advise that Count Okuma be invited to retain the office of premier and reconstruct the cabinet. The name of Lieut. Gen. Count Teruchi, governor-general of Korea also has been suggested, however, for the post of premier.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN BY NATIONAL ABSTAINERS' UNION—$100,000 TO BE EXPENDED

NEW YORK, July 30.—Plans were announced today by Albert B. Rogers, treasurer of the National Abstinence Union, for a nationwide temperance movement in which it proposed to expend $100,000 during the first year. Moving pictures shown in public halls and factories are expected to be a powerful adjunct to the work.

The movement is an outgrowth of plans of the churches of Christ in America, representing 20 denominations with a communicant membership of 17,500,000 persons.

CITY HALL NEWS

condemned by Engineer Bowers and others, stating at that time he proved one of the men who condemned the bridge did not know his business. The fact remains, however, that Commissioner Morse never rode a steam roller over the bridge, but simply acted as flagman in front of the roller while the big machine was driven across the bridge by Capt. Frouty.

Engineer Walter H. Denman, who drew the plans for the proposed bridge was present at the meeting, but he did not take part in the deliberations. W. T. S. Bartlett was also present and he asked the council to invite Prof. Swain to attend the hearing to be held at the Locks & Canals Co. and a mayor objected on the grounds that Mr. Swain had already received enough money from the city, but Mr. Bartlett said Mr. Swain should be present at the hearing. The mayor said that Prof. Swain had been paid $50 for his report on the Denman plans.

The jitney bus ordinance was again taken up and after Lawyer Donahue was heard on the matter the council voted to have the ordinance go into effect Sept. 1 instead of Aug. 1 and also to change the license fee from $5 to $1. In the course of his argument Mr. Donahue said the Bay State St. Car Co. should be restricted in the number of passengers on each car as well as the jitneys, and he side-tracked his issue to inform the council if he were a commissioner he would not bother with the Locks & Canals Co., but would simply seize some of the land for the construction of the new bridge.

The meeting, which was scheduled to be held at 10 o'clock, was opened at 10:45 o'clock by Mayor Murphy with all members present.

A resolution was presented by the board of health for the purchase, through the regular channel, of a car load of oats to be delivered not later than Aug. 5, and it was so voted.

The mayor read the communication received from the land and harbor commission in reference to the building of the Pawtucket bridge, which was published in yesterday's issue of The Sun.

A communication was received from the Locks & Canals company, asking for a public hearing on the Pawtucket bridge not before Aug. 5, and signed by Hiram P. Mills. The letter was placed on file and a hearing ordered for a hearing ordered for Aug. 10.

An order for the sprinkling of a number of streets, the cost to be charged to the abutters, was read and adopted.

Commissioner Morse spoke on the Pawtucket bridge matter and proved that he was willing to take a risk by asking the newspapermen to "quote him right." Mr. Morse said he is not playing politics. "I am in favor of a concrete bridge, but it looks now as if we would have a steel bridge. The maintenance of steel bridges means an expenditure of large sums of money."

"It seems we have to get a conference with Mr. Mills, who said we have to have a channel 15 feet deep. Mr. Donahue said myself speaking on the bridge question. There will be no crusher on the job for we have derricks to remove the rocks."

"This conference is something new to me. There is not a man in the council whom I thought would play politics."

Mr. Morse then made a mental detour, flitting from white sewers and sewer costs, and finally got back and knocked at the door to his old subject. He said that if the Locks & Canals Co. obstruction stands, he will have to plank the bridge at a cost of about $1600.

"If we are going to have this conference," he said, "I want to know if I will plank the bridge at a cost of $1600 to $1700. The commission again referred to his favorite story of the steam roller crossing the Pawtucket bridge and also indulged in a little reminiscence concerning the laying of the sewer in Merrimack St."

"Politics—who ever thought of politics?" continued Mr. Morse. He concluded by saying "bridge is no bridge, I may get trimmed next year, but I doubt it. Now I would like to know what I am going to do about planking the bridge?"

"This matter," said the mayor, "is up to yourself, and I don't think it is necessary to spend $1500 on the bridge, for there is no doubt in my mind that the old bridge will be replaced by a new one. I would simply put in the temporary planks that are needed."

Mr. Morse: "I have patched up a lot already and if I go on clipping I will not know when to stop."

Jitney Bus Ordinance
The petition in reference to the amending of the jitney bus ordinance was again taken up.

Lawyer Robbins appearing for one of the petitioners said he was informed by local insurance representatives that the companies do not insure jitneys.

Lawyer Donahue came to the front and said he believed the ordinance is illegal. He said a similar question went to the attorney general and the latter gave as his opinion that the act before the legislature and which was to go into effect July 1, was illegal and unconstitutional, and the result was that the law was not enacted. There are certain conditions in your bill that were included in the state bill," said Mr. Donahue.

"We have made all reasonable efforts," said Mr. Donahue, "and find no company will insure jitneys, and that means that the jitney owners will have to go out of business. One of the conditions of the ordinance is that a jitney cannot stop within 25 feet of a white pole, and that is unfair. What benefit is there in this section except to one corporation? What is there to prevent this company from painting every one of its poles white and prevent the jitney business? The intercity jitneys are not under your control, for all the drivers have to do is to collect fares after leaving the city.

HEAVY GUNS OF BRITISH PROVE THEIR WORTH IN OPERATIONS AT DARDANELLES

FIRING BRITISH GUN AT DARDANELLES

In the accompanying illustration is shown one of the big guns of the British in the act of being fired in the operations at the Dardanelles. These big guns have been very successful in the land campaign of the allies against Constantinople.

"I think all of you men want to be fair in this matter. The public is the only one to benefit by the jitneys in having better service. If you men want to make these regulations let them apply to the Bay State as well as the jitneys and limit the number of passengers on each car."

The mayor said this cannot be done because the Bay State comes under the public service commission.

Mr. Donahue then shifted over to the Pawtucket bridge matter and said if he were a member of the council he would have the city collector seize the land of the Locks & Canals Co.

Jitney Ordinance Amended
Mayor Murphy said the council has agreed to delay the enforcing of the ordinance until Sept. 1.

It was unanimously voted to amend the ordinance so that it will go into effect Sept. 1 instead of Aug. 1, and that the license fee be $1 instead of $5.

Wants Swain Present
W. T. S. Bartlett asked the council to invite Prof. George F. Swain to attend the hearing given the Locks & Canals Co. The mayor said it would cost money to have Mr. Swain here, and Mr. Bartlett said Mr. Swain should be brought here at any price.

Mayor Murphy said he did not believe the city should throw away money to have Prof. Swain here. Engineer Mills said Mr. Bartlett said he believes Mr. Mills will try to prove that Mr. Swain's report is wrong. The mayor said Mr. Swain has already been paid $50 for his report and he does not believe in giving him any more money. The meeting adjourned at 11:45 until Tuesday morning.

a minute elapsed before the electrode was applied to the right leg, a slit having previously been cut in the trouser leg from the knee down. After the electrode had been firmly adjusted against a shaven spot on the back of the condemned man's head the state executioner looked at Deputy Warden Johnson who surveyed the figure that was still muttering the death prayer in the chair. Johnson half turned his head and the executioner jammed the switch.

First Shock Lasted Minute
The first shock lasted a full minute and the executioner said that it was 1500 volts and 10 amperes in strength. It came while Becker was still commending his soul to his maker.

The two prison physicians stepped forward to examine the collapsed

figure that sat supported in the death chair by the thick black leather straps. The stethoscope was applied to the heart and Dr. Charles Farr, the prison physician, pressed his finger against an artery in the neck. There was still a feeble fluttering of the heart.

Dead After Three Shocks
The physician stepped back from the rubber mat and again the electric current pulsed through the body. The shock lasted seven seconds and the current was then turned off. After a hasty examination Dr. Farr asked that a third shock be given. This lasted five seconds. An examination that took several minutes followed. Three physicians among the witnesses then made an examination and Dr. Farr, at 5:55 o'clock, quietly announced: "I pronounce this man dead."

Dying Declaration
During the night Becker pencilled on a piece of paper what he captioned "my dying declaration." It was taken to the warden's office where two copies were typewritten, which Becker signed with his fountain pen in a bold hand. To Deputy Warden Johnson, who had charge of the execution in place of Warden Thomas Mott Osborne, who does not believe in the death penalty, the one-time police lieutenant gave his fountain pen as a gift. "It is the last thing that I have to give away, and I want you to have it. I want you to give this statement to the newspapermen."

Tribute to Mrs. Becker
"Gentlemen: I stand before you in my full senses knowing that no power on earth can save me from the grave that is to receive me. In the face of that, in the teeth of those who condemned me and in the presence of my God and your God, I proclaim my absolute innocence of the foul crime for which I must die. You are now about to witness my destruction by the state, which is organized to protect the lives of the innocent. My Almighty God pardon everyone who has contributed in any degree to my untimely death. And now, on the brink of my grave I declare to the world that I am proud to have been the husband of the purest, noblest woman that ever lived—Helen Becker. This acknowledgment is the only legacy I can leave her. I bid you all good bye. Father, I am ready to go. Amen." (Signed) "Charles Becker."

Sat Up All Night
After his wife had said farewell, shortly after midnight Becker maintained a casual conversation with Deputy Warden Johnson, who sat beside the screen in front of his cell. Sometimes he smoked cigars, after which he would lift his head and fall upon his hand and gaze reflectively at the concrete floor for minutes at a time. Dawn found him seated on the edge of his cot carefully pinning a photograph of his wife on his white shirt just over his heart. Then, as if he desired to have it all to himself, Becker put on a thin black alpaca coat which he tightly buttoned. The photograph was not seen by the witnesses until the prison physician opened his coat as he sat in the death chair.

Becker was put to death by the state executioner, whose name is unknown to the public. This man succeeded State Electrician Davis and he said he would not take the job unless his name was kept secret. He lives in a little town up-state. He went about his work briskly.

Becker's executioner said that in his opinion the man had died instantly at the first contact.

Haynes Also Executed
An autopsy on the body of Becker was performed according to law immediately after the execution. After Becker's body had been removed from the electric chair, Samuel Haynes, a negro murderer, was brought into the execution room and electrocuted. One of Becker's last requests to Warden Osborne was that he be put to death before the negro Haynes.

A statement credited to Mrs. Becker

was given out here shortly after her husband's death.

Mrs. Becker to Continue Fight
"I shall never rest," she was quoted as saying, "until I have exposed the methods which were used to convict my husband. Whether he was guilty or innocent, there was no justification for the means employed to convict him."

"I would rather lose all the other members of my family, as dear as they are to me, than lose Charles. No one can take his place. In all of the ten years of our married life I never had occasion once to regret that I was his wife."

"Charles was no angel. He made no pretense of being one. He was just an ordinary human being—and perhaps that is why I loved him so."

Unusual Resistance
Dr. W. O. Stillman of Albany, who assisted in the autopsy, said that Becker showed unusual resistance to the electric fluid. After the autopsy, Dr. Stillman said:

"I noticed no unusual effects upon Becker's vital organs. The way he resisted the strong current was remarkable, showing him to be an unusually powerful man."

It was expected that Becker's body will be removed some time today to New York where funeral services will probably be held on Sunday.

FUNERAL ON MONDAY
NEW YORK, July 30.—Mrs. Helen Becker, according to her brother, John Lynch, was bearing up well today after the strain she underwent yesterday and last night. Mrs. Becker is resting at her home today and is not expected to see anyone except members of her family.

An undertaker was despatched today to Ossining to get the body of Charles Becker. The funeral, it was announced, will take place Monday. A solemn high requiem mass will be said at the Church of St. Nicholas of Tolentine. Interment will be at Woodlawn cemetery.

WARDEN ALLEGES ASSAULT
OSSINING, N. Y., July 30.—Patrick McDonald, an agent of Superintendent of Prisons Riley, was arrested here today on a charge of assault preferred by Warden Thomas M. Osborne of Sing Sing prison. The arrest took place just as McDonald was about to take a train for Albany. The alleged assault occurred at the railroad station about two hours after the Becker execution.

McDonald appeared at Sing Sing prison this morning with a demand from Superintendent of Prisons Riley on Warden Osborne asking for all his written orders assigning convicts to various parts of the prison. It has been recently charged that convicts were permitted against the law, to enter the death house and sing songs for the amusement of the condemned.

The prison clerk gave the orders to McDonald who then went to the railroad station. Warden Osborne learned that the papers had been taken away and made the claim that they had been removed in an illegal manner, in as much as no copies had been made and that the procedure left the prison without records. Warden Osborne hurried up town and obtained a warrant and McDonald was taken to court and paroled upon his own recognizance until August 6. Warden Osborne took the papers back with him to Sing Sing prison.

BECKER ATTACKED GOVERNOR
OSSINING, N. Y., July 30.—The last hope of Charles Becker died when he was told early in the evening that his wife had failed to move Gov. Whitman to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

Failing in her mission, she mothered here to break the news to her husband.

but it had reached him before she arrived. Becker, it was said, had not expected clemency.

Almost at the moment the news was received the publisher gave a letter which he had written to Gov. Whitman, in which he attacked the executive for having, as he indicated, given to the newspapers statements which cast a "foul aspersions on my character" and for which he demanded retraction.

"I Am as Innocent as You"
In this letter the former police lieutenant again reiterated his innocence of the crime for which he has been twice convicted.

"To these charges and to all others, I answer," the latter read, "by repeating solemnly on the brink of the world to which you are sending me before my time, what was my constant answer while in the world: I am as innocent as you of having murdered Herman Rosenthal or of having conspired, procured or aided his murder, or having any knowledge of that dreadful crime."

The alleged statements which Becker referred to as having been credited to the governor were that he had offered to plead guilty of murder in the second degree; that, quoting from Becker's letter, he "had offered to give testimony against several persons (whose names are undisclosed) of having shared with me in collecting money from law breakers;" that he had sent counsel to two men arrested for complicity in the Rosenthal murder, and "with a cruelty almost inconceivable, it is stated that my first wife died under circumstances warranting suspicion that I caused her death."

Death of First Wife
Becker explained the death of his first wife by declaring that she had died of "hasty consumption" and that no breath of suspicion had ever been raised against him in that connection.

"Mark well, sir, these words of mine," the letter concluded, "when your power passes, then the truth of Rosenthal's murder will become known. But not while your nominees remain district attorneys and can hold the club over these persons."

"With the aid of judges who were misled into misbelieving the testimony offered in my trial and into mistating it both to the jury and on appeal, you have proved yourself able to destroy my life."

"But believe me, I will surrender to this state, nor in this country nor the governor of this state, nor the district attorney, nor all of them combined, can destroy permanently the character of an innocent man."

The letter was mailed to Gov. Whitman last night. Becker had spent nearly the whole day in his cell preparing it.

Crime Cost Six Lives
Driven to the wall by the persecutions of Charles Becker, a police lieutenant, to whom almost unlimited powers had been given him by his superiors, Herman Rosenthal, a notorious gambler, died early in July, 1912, to make a clean breast of the relations between police officials and lawbreakers in New York.

"To this resolution, which he fully intended to carry out, although no one knew better than he the dangerous position in which it would place him, six lives can now be credited."

Rosenthal is dead. The four East Side "gunmen," namely: "Gyp the Blood," "Dago Frank," "Lefty Louie" and "Whitney" Lewis, who shot him down in front of the Maypool hotel early in the morning of July 18, 1912, are in their graves.

This morning Charles Becker, twice convicted of being the real instigator of the murder of Rosenthal, paid the penalty of his crime in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.

The death of Becker closes the last chapter in a sordid story which for far reaching effects is unparalleled in the history of crime in New York city.

It shook the police department to its very foundations; it wrested the control of the city government from Tammany Hall; it elevated Charles S. Whitman to the governor's chair at Albany and made him a presidential possibility; it revealed a condition of official delinquency often hinted at but never before proved, and it left a string of convicted and disgraced men in its wake.

Out of one man's determination to avenge real or imaginary wrongs by "shootings" have come all these and many more things which for more than three years have focussed public attention on this remarkable case.

DOUBLE ELECTROCUTION
EDDYVILLE, Ky., July 30.—For the third time in the history of Kentucky a double electrocution took place this morning at the Eddyville penitentiary.

The first to be executed was Turner Graham, Jr., 24, a white man, convicted for the killing of R. J. McMurry, sheriff of Hardin county. The second was Will Lane, 25, a negro, convicted at Eddyville, on a charge of killing his wife.

At the first electrocution a negro to be executed in Kentucky since the adoption of electrocution as a means of inflicting the death penalty.

CUT AUTO LICENSES
BOSTON, July 30.—A radical change in the present rules regulating the issue of operators' licenses to private automobile owners in this state will be made by the Massachusetts highway commission as a result of recent criticism, according to Chairman William D. Sobler of the commission.

Under the present system a private operator may secure a license to run an electric automobile and without further application the same license permits the holder to operate a high-powered gasoline car if he wishes.

"That the system is wrong, and tends to increase the number of automobile accidents in the state, is the opinion of men prominent in the various automobile associations of Massachusetts. It is said that while an operator may be competent to run an electric automobile, he may know nothing about the operation of a high-powered gasoline car, and that applicants for a license to operate a private car should specify the kind of car, and if they have operated an electric machine only, they should be restricted to this."

Refer to Judge Hyman
The method of not restricting the operator of an electric automobile, but permitting him also to operate a gasoline car, was recently sharply criticized by Judge Hyman of Attleboro in imposing a jail sentence and fine on a reckless operator. "I got a license to drive an electric machine, and the paper I secured lets me drive a high-powered gasoline car, for which I am entirely unfitted," he said.

Chairman Sobler of the highway commission said yesterday that he would bring the matter to the attention of the commission. He said: "Although I believe that the number of accidents caused by an owner not understanding his machine are exaggerated, still I believe it would be a good thing to change the present rule and restrict a private operator to an electric car, if that is the only kind he has operated when he applies for a license. I shall certainly bring the matter to the attention of the commission."

Rule Will Mean Exams
If the rule is changed the operator will then have to make a further application for a license to operate a gasoline car, and pass the customary examination for such a license.

President William H. Ames of the Massachusetts Automobile association declared that it is a grave mistake not to distinguish between an electric and gasoline automobile in granting a license to the operator of a private car.

"I have a personal understanding how to run an electric machine, does not mean that he knows anything at all about the operation of a gasoline car," he said. "There is all the difference in the world between the two, and public safety demands that they be specified by the applicant for a license."

The license that is granted at present by the highway commission says: "An application for a license to operate automobiles will not be considered, by the commission, until the applicant has operated an automobile on the highways at least 100 miles." The applicant, however, is not obliged to operate the kind of machine he has operated.
